WILKOMMEN ZUM St. LOUIS.

Arion Society of New York Arrives From the Pacific.

GUESTS AT THE LIEDERKRANZ.

THEY ARE SEEING THE SIGHTS OF THE WORLD'S FAIR CITY.

A Banquet and a "Commers" With German Songs, Music and Speeches Are Provided for Their Enjoyment.

"Pardon me," said the newly arrived Arion man to the stein, "but I think you are full."

The stein foamed in impotent wrath.

"And," continued the Arion man, "I think it my duty to take you in."

Which he proceeded to do.

Then the Arion man broke forth in that good old chorus:

"I'm Keller kuehl."

Whereat the Liederkranz man, who was showing him the sights, said:

"Let's go out to the summer garden."

They did. There they heard—a coon song! And the Arion man fled, exclaiming against the desecration of the memories of "Vog-g-ner" and the halls of German song.

The Arion man was one of the New York Singing Society, which is in the city. Fifty of them arrived Wednesday morning from the West, and from the time they set foot in the Union Station till now—and it is early yet, too—there has been more harmony in this town than if all the city departments were under one man, with only his relatives in positions.

The singers who came Wednesday have been to the Pacific Coast, and are on their way here. They spent a few hours in Kansas City Tuesday and came on to put in Wednesday with their brethren in the Liederkranz here. A committee of the latter met them at the station and the entire party went to the Planters' for breakfast.

The forenoon was spent in a visit to the Anheuser-Busch brewery, where luncheon was served at noon. Then came a carriage drive about the city, through the West End and the parks.

The great festivities of the Arions' visit will take place Wednesday night and will include a grand "commers" and sangerfest at the Liederkranz. The "commers" will be held in the garden, which has been most elaborately decorated for the occasion.

Festoons of light make the place a dream of beauty, to which the many potted plants add greatly. The 6000 lights used outline the entire building and form various mottoes, including the "O. K." of the entertainers and the "Arion" of the guests. Places will be provided for 600 guests.

Much music will lend attractiveness to the evening programme. The Fischer orchestra will play the Tannhauser march, of course, to start things properly, and after the welcoming address from President Gustav Cramer, it will play an overture.

Konrad Nies will then re-greet the visitors and will read an original festival poem. Emil Feigenbutz will lead the men's chorus of the St. Louis singers and there will be some more orchestra music. Hugo Muench will speak on "Our Guests," and there will be a general singing of a song composed for the occasion by Dr. H. M. Starkloff, who later in the evening will respond to the toast "The Ladies."

Dr. Emil Preetorius will speak on "German Song and the German Spirit." The Arions will respond through some leading member, and again there will be songs galore. Corwin H. Spencer will make the English speech of the evening, responding to "Our Country," and then—

The night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away.

Nobody knows when the gathering will break up. These singing societies generally quit when their throats are dry, and not before.

The hour when the Arions are to leave has been left wide open. As one entertainer said: "The longer they stay the better we will like it; we will keep them as long as we can."

The following constitute the party now in the city as guests of the Liederkranz, all members of the Arion Society:

ANOTHER LOST BROTHER FOUND.

Mrs. Dean of St. Louis to Meet One She Thought Dead.

TWICE HAS HAD SUCH DELIGHT.

BOTH BROTHERS WENT TO WAR AND NEITHER RETURNED.

One Was Found Last Year and the Other Will Be Met at the Philadelphia G. A. R. Encampment.

Mrs. Dean of 2007 Carr street is about to be reunited to a second brother she thought was dead. The reunion will take place at the encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Philadelphia next week.

In both cases, brother and sister were brought together, after long years of separation, by the merest chance.

Mrs. Dean is a widow of a veteran of the Civil War and is herself a member of the Woman's Relief Corps. Her husband died six years ago last April, leaving her without means of support. She is now in the employ of a tailoring establishment. She has made her home with an adopted sister, Mrs. A. B. Wilson, at 2007 Carr street.

Up to a year ago, Mrs. Dean thought she was without a blood relation in the world, and her lonely condition was a cause of a great deal of trouble to her. She had many friends, but no one she could call her own.

During the G. A. R. encampment last September, a veteran of Ransom Post, who was a friend of Mrs. Dean, accidentally met a man who turned out to be her brother, C. W. Davis. He was living in Cincinnati.

When the Ransom Post veteran told him that his sister, whom he had not seen since the last day of February, 1866, was in Cincinnati, he insisted upon being conducted to her at once. The meeting was a most affectionate one. He was her youngest brother, and eighteen years ago she had received a letter saying that he had died at Charleston, W. Va.

Another brother was still missing. He had marched away from his home at Cincinnati when a boy to fight for his country and had not been heard of again. Mrs. Dean had long thought him dead. So did the brother in Cincinnati.

But he was alive, and it is he that Mrs. Dean expects to meet at the encampment next week.

Soon after her meeting with Charles Davis at Cincinnati, the other brother, W. B. Davis, who is in business at Lancaster, Pa., heard of the reunion. He had thought his sister and brother dead, after searching long for them in vain.

He wrote to the G. A. R. comrade who had brought about the reunion last September, to learn if Mrs. Dean was really his sister. Upon learning that she was, he wrote to her, and they have arranged to meet at the Philadelphia encampment. Mrs. Dean was 7 years old when this brother went to the war. He is unmarried and is a prosperous business man.

Mrs. Dean is on a business trip to Chicago. Her brother in Lancaster, Pa., wishes her to come to live with him, but Mrs. Wilson believes that the ties she has made in St. Louis, and the fact that her three children are buried at Bellefontaine Cemetery, will keep Mrs. Dean in St. Louis.

SHALL WOMEN RIDE WHEELS?

A Wisconsin Town Proposes to Place Restrictions on Female Cyclists.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Walter M. Cowell, the attorney, of Kenosha, has presented to the Kenosha City Council the bicycle ordinance which prohibits women from riding unless they passed an examination as to their fitness to guide a wheel. When the attorney announced his determination to draw the ordinance the matter was considered as a huge joke, but the affair now has gone so far that it seems certain that the City Council will take action on the question. The ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for any female to ride in Kenosha without having first obtained from the City Clerk a license. To obtain this license the applicant must be examined by three experts as to her ability to ride without endangering the safety and personal rights of others. If the experts put their O. K. on her riding she must file a $100 bond "that all damages caused by the careless riding or other improper handling or manipulation of a bicycle will be paid by the said female if the accident is shown to be resultant from the carelessness of said licensee." The experts will conduct the riding academy in Market Square.

It is further provided that it shall be unlawful for any woman to ride within the corporate limits of Kenosha without having first obtained a license, and any violation of the ordinance is to be punished by arrest and a $10 fine. The fines are to be the compensation of the experts.

In no case is the ordinance to apply to any woman riding with a male escort on a tandem.

DAWES SURE OF A GOLD BASIS

Comptroller of the Treasury Says Coin Will Be Set Aside for Redemption of the Greenbacks.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 30.—In an interview regarding the proposed financial legislation of the Republican majority in the next Congress, given out here, Comptroller of the Treasury Dawes says:

"It is my opinion that Congress at the next session will pass the House caucus bill, now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee, and which embodies the President's recommendations on a gold reserve fund. Under this bill, from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 in gold will be set aside as a fund for the redemption of greenbacks.

"This amounts to putting the currency of the country on a gold basis."

DID MURDER TO GET HER

Now the Second Wife of Albert Becker Is Divorced, Her Plea Being Based on His Crime.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Ida Becker, formerly Ida Sutterlin, the 17-year-old girl for the love of whom Albert Becker is said to have murdered his first wife, has secured a divorce. Becker is under stentence to hang Oct. 13, and this fact was used in the wife's plea. Becker's crime was like that of Luetgert.

TO EASTERNIZE HIGH SCHOOL.

Women Teachers Will Eventually Be Eliminated.

SKETCHES OF NEW PRINCIPALS.

WHAT IS MEANT BY THE APPOINTMENTS.

High School to Be Erected on the South Side—An Effort to Get Outside of St. Louis for Pedagogic Aid.

The confirmation Tuesday night by the School Board of the appointments approved by the Teachers Committee makes noticeable the fact that all the new names of principals and High School instructors are those of men, there not being a woman among them.

Naturally, this aroused comment, for in the past the women have received more than one-half of the positions. Then, too, eleven of the new appointees, including all assigned to the High School, are graduates of other institutions than the Normal School, the majority coming from the East.

One of the most prominent members of the Board of Education said to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday:

"I may say that there is a well-understood agreement among the members of the board, that where everything is equal, preference is always to be given to men. This particularly applies to principalships and positions in the High School. This determination is based upon results, it having been conclusively shown that the work performed by male teachers, along certain lines, is superior to that done by women.

"It has long been the object of the board to improve the standard of the High School, which, with regret, it is said, is far from being the school it should be. This is in nowise intended as a reflection on heads of the institution; on the contrary, with the limited material at their hands, they have done well. It is our intention to use every available means to make the plant a fitting one for the size and importance of St. Louis. With this end in view, we have recently abrogated the rule requiring all applitants for High School positions to undergo an examination, the possession of a diploma from any recognized college being now sufficient.

"Another reform that was made is the prohibition of teachers being transferred from grammar schools to the high. Formerly this could be done without so much as even an examination in regard to the fitness of the person who desired to make the change. Now, however, unless there be especial cause for a change of the sort is done. It is reasonable to suppose that teaching children in the primary grades would not prepare one for work in the higher branches. And the former boards did not always consider the qualifications of those who sought transfers, but rather their political 'pull.' As an inevitable result there are teachers in the High School who would do better, for both themselves and the school, if they were somewhere else. As far as possible this condition will be changed, though it must necessarily be slow. The old ones will be replaced and new ones added from graduates of colleges instead of the local Normal School. It does not require a great amount of perspicuity to see that products of the St. Louis schools cannot do otherwise than follow in the beaten local paths. This has continued for over forty years and it is surely time for a change.

"Of course, we expect to encounter much opposition, particularly from those directly affected, who will cry, 'Let well enough alone,' but it isn't well enough, so we won't let it alone. We need new blood and it is our certain intention to get it. As far as our High School being considered a preparatory place for college, it is not, but it can and will be made so.

"The Normal School has been discontinued. We have already too many teachers on the waiting list. The board it at present working with the definite object in view of building the much-talked of South Side High School. We already have a lot on Shenandoah avenue, two blocks east of Grand. Just as soon as we get sufficient money we will build there and in that way relieve the present crowded condition of the central building. This we hope to do within the next two years. In that time some great changes will have taken place in the moss-covered public school system of this city and it will have again taken its position at the head of public education centers of the country."

As a beginning in the direction of eliminating women from the High School, five young men have been added to the corps. They are all college graduates. They are:

Stephen A. Douglass of Plain City, O., a graduate of Ann Arbor, will teach chemistry. Chester B. Curtis, a graduate of Dartmouth and Cornell, lived at Sioux City, Ia. D. Floyd Culler of Bedford, Pa., a graduate of Pennsylvania University and Yale. Harvey W. Thayer, who is to teach German, is a former resident of Portland, Me., and a graduate of Bowdoin, Harvard, and the schools of Leipzig. C. G. F. Baker of Pagosa Springs, Colo., is a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College. They are all put on the rolls at a salary of $1200 a year and their first year is one of probation.

Following are brief sketches of the new principals appointed by Supt. Soldan:

Mr. William Wade Walters, the new principal of the Shepard School, is a graduate of the Kirksville Normal School of Missouri. Later he became a student of the State University, in which he took a post-graduate course of 15 months. He has had a rich and most successful experience in the State schools, as Superintendent of Salem, Mo., for six years, of Bethany for three years, principal of the Maryville High School for two years and at the Carthage High School two years. For the last year he has been superintendent of the Jefferson City Schools, where his record for tact, scholarly qualities and pedagogical talent is exceptionally good.

Mr. Robert L. Barton, the principal of the new Eliot School, is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal School. He has had an exceedingly rich and successful experience in teaching. He was superintendent of the Galena schools for three years, of the Champaign schools two years, of the Peru (Ill.) schools for five years, and now and has been for the last six years superintendent of the schools of Chippewa Falls.

Mr. Charles M. Gill, the new principal of the Carondelet School, is at present superintendent of the schools of De Soto, and one of the most successful managers and teachers in the State.

Mr. H. J. Gerling, the new principal of the Laclede School has both an excellent preparation in practical work and unusually good scholarship. He is a graduate of the University of the State of Missouri, a graduate student of Cornell, where he received the President White fellowship, and studied history and political science from 1896 to 1899. He was also connected, as instructor, with the University of Missouri and served as principal of the High School at Columbia.

Mr. Charles E. Witter, the new principal

A MAD LOVER SLAYS HIMSELF.

First Joseph Freels Tried to Murder Miss Agles.

HER FATHER SAVED HER LIFE.

SHE HAD REFUSED TO BECOME FREELS' WIFE.

Lebanon Miner, Who Had Been Jilted, Attacked His Sweetheart With a Razor, Failing to Kill Her Committed Suicide.

Because she refused to marry him, Joseph Freels tried to kill Miss Nellie Agles at 12 o'clock Tuesday night at Lebanon, Ill., with a razor.

He slashed her throat and cut her hand.

The girl's father threw him out of the house.

Freels then cut his own throat.

He died almost instantly. The girl will probably recover.

Freels is a coal miner. He went to Lebanon a few months ago from Mount Vernon and has been employed in one of the mines of the Consolidated Coal Company.

Soon after arriving in Lebanon he met Miss Nellie Agles, a young and pretty girl, the daughter of John Agles, a well-known resident. Freels paid her marked attention.

He proposed marriage and it is supposed that he was accepted by the girl, although no day had been set for the wedding.

Then a report came to Miss Agles that Freels had a wife living at Mount Vernon. The engagement was broken off.

Tuesday evening Freels, after drinking heavily, called on Miss Agles and renewed his pleadings for her to marry him. She said she would not do so until she had proof that he had no wife at Mount Vernon and until he stopped drinking.

He pleaded with her a long time, but she could not be persuaded.

The couple remained together in the parlor until about midnight. The rest of the girl's family had retired. Freels made a final appeal and when the girl again refused to marry him he drew a razor from his coat pocket and slashed at her throat.

The blade passed across her neck, but did not make a deep cut. Freels tried to complete his work. The girl screamed and struggled. She seized the blade of the razor and her hand was cut to the bone. She managed, however, to prevent him from again using the weapon on her throat.

Her father, aroused by her screams, ran into the room.

Mr. Agles seized Freels from behind and before he could defend himself with the razor threw him out of the house.

Freels drew the razor across his own throat from ear to ear, severing the windpipe and large arteries in the neck and sank, dying, to the ground.

A doctor who was hastily called, found that Miss Agles' injuries would probably not end fatally.

Freels was dead.

The town authorities took charge of the body and notified Freels' relatives at Mt. Vernon.

Coroner Schildroth of Belleville was notified. He went to Lebanon Wednesday and held an inquest.

DEWEY HONORS A GUEST

Special Attention Paid to Consul Fletcher on Board the Flagship Olympia.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Company.

NICE, Aug. 30.—Admiral Dewey, who remained aboard the Olympia all day yesterday, had a call in the afternoon from Consul Fletcher of Genoa.

Mr. Fletcher had expected the Olympia at Genoa and when she did not come he was so disappointed that he came down to get a glimpse of the flagship and the Admiral.

Admiral Dewey, with characteristic thoughtfulness and feeling, showed the Consul all over the flagship in person, something that he rarely does for even the most distinguished persons. Then he invited the Consul to dinner.

It happened that he was showing Consul Fletcher about when the colors were lowered. It was an impressive scene in this foreign harbor, as the Admiral, stopping in the midst of an explanation of some part of the ship and with every officer and man faced around, stood erect and still with his eyes fixedly fixed on the flag.

The landing battalion drilled for the third time on the parade ground here yesterday in preparation for the celebration in New York.

Will Shake Vermont Hills.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Two 10-ton guns will leave Mare Island to-day for Vermont, where they will boom a salute from the hills surrounding Admiral Dewey's native town of Montpelier, when the flagship is sighted off Sandy Hook.

Gov. E. C. Smith of Vermont applied to the authorities at Washington for two heavy guns for use in the salute to be fired in Dewey's honor. The department informed the Governor that the only guns which could be used were at the Mare Island Navy Yard in California, and that no funds available for their transportation were at hand.

"Give me an order and I will stand the expense," said the Governor, and the big guns will be on hand to salute Dewey.

BURGLAR SHOOTS TWO WOMEN

Mother Fatally Wounded and the Daughter Coming to Her Help Also Meets a Bullet.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Hilda Silverstone and her daughter, Rosa, were shot by a burglar in their home on Sixth and Monson streets this morning. The daughter is only slightly wounded, the bullet having plowed a light furrow across her shoulders, but the surgeons in charge believe that Mrs. Silverstone will die. They are unable to locate the bullet.

Mrs. Silverstone awoke about 3 o'clock and found her face covered ith a handkerchief, saturated with chloroform. She struggled to her feet and screamed for help. The burglar was ransacking the bureau near the bed, and arose from his knees, cursing her. Before she could scream a second time, he shot her, but her first cry brought her daughter and a woman servant and the burglar fired at them as they came into the room. He disappeared through the window without having secured any booty.

The detectives say they are confident of catching the man before night.

AT THE RISK OF HIS LIFE.

George P. Lewis Took a Pistol From Two Negroes.

HE PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

THE NEGROES WERE TRYING TO KILL EACH OTHER.

Clothing Saleman Saw Them Struggling for the Possession of a Revolver and He Stopped the Fight.

George P. Lewis, a quiet, unassuming salesman in the employ of Browning, King & Co., risked his life Wednesday morning to interfere in a furious struggle between two negroes at Seventeenth and Pine streets and prevented a tragedy.

He wrenched a pistol, for possession of which both assailants were straining every fiber, from them, placed it in his pocket and then separated the men. He still has the revolver as a trophy of his heroic deed. He says he will keep it until the police call for it.

The combatants were Henry Wiley, a driver of a mail wagon, and H. D. Fisher, a waiter at the Silver Moon restaurant, on Pine street. Lewis, who lives at 2007 Laclede avenue, saw them fighting as he was walking along Pine street to his work. Something bright flashed in the sunlight and a glance told Lewis that it was a pistol. He ran to the scene of the trouble. The men were locked tightly in each other's arms. The revolver was between them. Each had a hand around it and were straining every nerve to point the barrel at the other and pull the trigger. Two shots were fired in the scuffle but both went wild.

Then Lewis took a hand in the trouble. He grasped the weapon and wrenched it from the men with a quick jerk. In an instant it was in his pocket.

He stepped between the men and threw them apart. But they closed in upon each other again. Lewis stepped between them a second time and was then successful in keeping them apart.

By this time a large crowd had collected and Fisher and Wiley left the scene, going in opposite directions.

Wiley, when seen later, said it was his pistol that was used in the struggle. He declares Fisher attacked him and made him believe he had a weapon. He claims Fisher opposed his going with a certain woman, and had sent him word he would "fix" him on sight. He says Fisher accosted him Tuesday morning as he was going to work and pulled a hand in his hip pocket, whereupon he drew his pistol to protect himself. Then the struggle ensued.

Lewis says he would probably never have interfered if he had not been so excited at the prospect of seeing a man shot. He claims he was not heroic but foolish, and says he doesn't think he would do the same thing again.

LOVE LETTERS MAKE A DOSSIER

Indiana Banker Married His Divorced Wife and Now He Is Sued by Another Woman.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 30.—Because D. E. Studebaker, a wealthy banker of Decatur, changed his mind and again married his divorced wife, Miss Louise Bradley, to whom he was engaged at the time, has sued him for $10,000 damages and has placed 118 love letters in the dossier against him.

COOLER BUT WITHOUT RAIN

That Is the Announcement Made by Dr. Hyatt of the Weather Bureau.

The indications are that the weather will be a bit cooler by Thursday night. There is only a slight possibility of rain, however, says Dr. Hyatt, and the coolness will probably come of its own accord, and not as the outcome of showers.

The highs on the weather map of Wednesday were in the extreme northeast and northwest, with a low between them and another in the region of Lower California. The ranges of the temperatures were as diverse as one sees very often. The 70 line began on the Rio Grande, went from there directly to Lake Superior and then, dropping down to Kansas City and Little Rock. It meandered back to Chicago, and then struck south to New Orleans. Then, just to keep up its mad jaunt, it went to New York. And the other lines were as curious.

ARMY CHIEFS DEFY THE FRENCH NATION.

Claim to Have Canvassed the Regiments and All From Colonels Down Are Ripe for Revolution.

MERCIER PREPARES THE STEP TO FOLLOW DREYFUS' ACQUITTAL.

With Confident Bearing the Prisoner Demonstrates to the Court That He Did Not Possess the Information Contained in the Bordereau.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Company.

RENNES, Aug. 30.—The extremely important information that follows was obtained from two men high in the councils of the anti-Dreyfusards. It came out in discussing with them the probable consequence of Dreyfus' acquittal. This proposition was placed before them:

"Of course, you know that your adversaries intend to demand the immediate arrest of Mercier, Boisdeffre and Gonse, and their arraignment before the high court of justice for the criminal abuse of the offices of the State. You must know the Government has decided to arrest Mercier at the conclusion of the proceedings whether the verdict be acquittal or condemnation, and has postponed his arrest only to avoid a political convulsion before the end of the trial. What do you think would be the decision of the high court as t the fate of the generals implicated?"

Both answered simultaneously:

"The generals would undoubtedly be sentenced to deportation. But the high court will never have to pronounce itself on the generals. They will not submit to this indignity."

"Do you mean to say," the correspondent asked, "that they will resist the constituted civil authorities?"

"Yes," they answered. "The army is for the generals, and so is more than half the population of France."

"Then there will be a coup d'etat?"

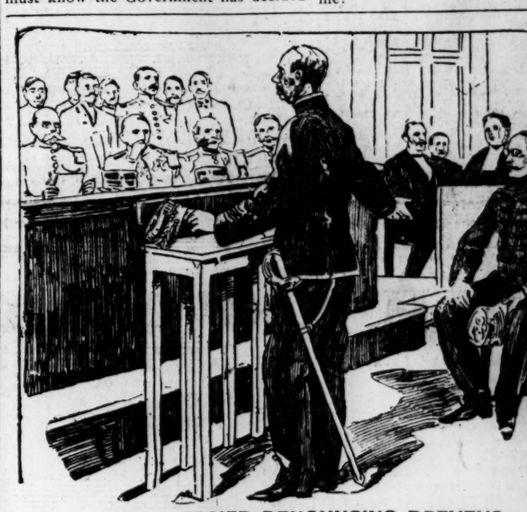

"Call it what you will. To strike Mercier, Boisdeffre and Gonse would be to ruin all the prestige of the chiefs of the army and all discipline. It would amount to the destruction of the army, which will defend itself."

I said: "Your plan takes it for granted that a large body of the subordinate officers of the army would follow the high staff rather than obey the orders of the regular Government. This is improbable."

My affected skepticism brought forth the following remarkable admission, which was delivered with intense impatience.

READY FOR REVOLUTION.

"Do you think we are examining the first to have declared to you, and have said in front of the accused, 'I made a mistake in good faith,' but no, my conviction has not undergone the slightest change. It has become strengthened."

GEN. MERCIER DENOUNCING DREYFUS.

The cut illustrates the scene in court when Gen. Mercier, pointing to Dreyfus, said: "If the slightest doubt had troubled my soul, I would have been

My excited informants continued: "When Mercier thus spoke he knew he could afford to do so. The army was canvassed recently. It was then overwhelmingly with us, and it is now so even more thoroughly. Our returns prove that, from the colonels down, all the regiments await only a sign from their generals to upset the Government and to rid the country of the last of the Dreyfusards."

After the excitement had ceased which brought forth the astonishing admission that a canvass of the army had been made, and that a military coup is in contemplation in the immediate future, my informants adjured me not to publish what they had said.

I refused to promise that so far as America was concerned, but I did pledge myself not to give their names.

I affirm, however, that no statement ever came from a better informed or more reliable source.

GOOD DAY FOR DREYFUS.

This was decidedly a Dreyfus day—not alone because of the testimony of witnesses, but because of the prisoner's confident bearing and his lucid explanation of all the information he possessed in connection with military secrets referred to in the bordereau. His statement was convincing because of its simplicity and directness. He demonstrated clearly that he could not have imparted the information which the documents furnished the German Embassy are said to contain.

The handwriting experts helped the prisoner's cause to-day, three witnesses testifying that Esterhazy wrote the bordereau.

The event of the day was the testimony of M. Picot, a member of the institute, who declares that Col. Schneider, the Austrian Military Attache in Paris in 1896, told the witness that Esterhazy was used as a spy by the foreign embassies.

and that Dreyfus was innocent of the charges against him.

FACTS IN DREYFUS' FAVOR

The Strongest Evidence Yet Brought Out of the Innocence of the Prisoner.

(By the Associated Press.)

RENNES, Aug. 30.—At the opening of the Dreyfus trial M. Paul Meyer, member of the Institute and director of the School of Ancient Manuscripts, was the first witness called. He deposed in favor of Dreyfus.

After hearing MM. Molinier and Giry and M. Picot, a member of the institute, all of whom testified in favor of Dreyfus, Gen. Deloye testified against the prisoner on the artillery references in the bordereau.

Then the court, on the application of the Government commissary, Maj. Carriere, ordered that the opening part of to-morrow's session be behind closed doors, for the purpose of discussing documents relating to the artillery.

The evidence of MM. Meyer, Molinier and Giry, all of whom are handwriting experts of the first rank, was a strong point for Dreyfus. They were most emphatic in declaring that the bordereau was written by Esterhazy, and created a better impression than M. Bertillon by not introducing the fantastic diagrams which the latter deemed necessary.

The action of Gen. Mercier in asking to be allowed to reply to Gen. Molinier and then getting up and confirming the professor's statement that Esterhazy changed his handwriting since 1894 puzzled the audience. That Esterhazy should have deemed it advisable to change his handwriting since the date of the bordereau, which appears at first sight to indicate that he wrote it, and M. Mercier should support Prof. Molinier, aroused discussion as to the General's motives.

There are some persons who see in Mercier's unsolicited testimony yesterday support of the honorable na ure of M. Mathieu Dreyfus' visit to Col. Sandherr in 1894 in behalf of his brother, and the General's move to-day, an indication of some change of attitude, perhaps a prelude to candid avowal of his mistakes of 1894. On the other hand, many persons think Gen. Mercier, fearing that Saturday's exposure will discredit him altogether with the judges, has conceived the idea of giving way on certain points, which moreover are almost incontestable, and thus, to some extent, reinstate himself by an affectation of impartiality.

M. Picot related an interesting conversation which he had with the Austro-Hungarian military attache, Col. Schneider, mention of whose name evoked a prompt protest from Maj. Carriere in the name of the Government and State. Col. Schneider, according to this witness, admitted that Esterhazy acted as a spy and wrote the bordereau.

Gen. Roget, with his usual shrewdness, seized upon M. Picot's statement that Col. Schneider expressed astonishment that French officers should have the bad taste to question the word of foreign officers to mount the platform and make a short speech in defense of the attitude of the French officers, concluding with the remark: "I intervene because when French officers are attacked they have the right to defend themselves."

These words will be published all over France and will tend to make Gen. Roget more popular with the army.

Gen. Deloye repeated his testimony before the Court of Cassation relating to the 120 short cannon hydro-pneumatic brake and the Robin shell.

Dreyfus, in reply, made a really clear statement, explaining that he saw the hydro-pneumatic brake once at Bourges, once at the school of war, and that he never saw it used, because, while on the general staff, he was never present at firing practice.

Maj. Carriere then made his application to have the court sit behind closed doors to-morrow, explaining that he desired to submit to the court certain documents prepared by the gunnery bureau, containing information which it was not desirable to discuss in public.

The court after deliberation, granted the application and also acceded to the request of the defense that their witness, Maj. Hartmann, of the artillery, be allowed to be present, as he would give important testimony showing that Dreyfus could not have written the paragraphs in the bordereau concerning artillery.

FULL RECORD OF TESTIMONY

Experts Testify That Esterhazy Wrote the Bordereau and in a Free Hand.

RENNES, Aug. 30.—Following is the complete record of the testimony:

The first witness to-day, M. Paul Meyer, member of the Institute and director of the School of Ancient Manuscripts, described his researches in connection with the Dreyfus case which led to his conviction that the bordereau was not only in Esterhazy's handwriting, but was actually written by Esterhazy.

The witness explained that in his evidence before the Assizes Court he was unable to be so positive in regard to the writer, because he had only seen a facsimile of the bordereau, but at the Court of Cassation he saw the original bordereau.

"I convinced myself," said M. Meyer, "by a magnifying glass, that the bordereau was written in a free hand and without hesitation, whereas, it is precisely hesitation in the formation of the strokes, which reveals the use of a method of tracing. I can affirm that it is in the writing and in the very hand of Esterhazy. That is perfectly clear to me." (Commotion.)

At the conclusion of his testimony the witness gave a demonstration of the fallacy of the Bertillon system.

Prof Auguste Molinier of the School of Ancient Manuscripts gave similar evidence. He said that each fresh examination of the bordereau only served to further convince him that it was the work of Esterhazy.

Amid deep attention the witness demonstrated how the conclusions of the experts who attributed the bordereau to Dreyfus were mutually destructive, and dwelt on the defects of M. Bertillon's arguments, pointing out the striking resemblance of the alleged doctored handwriting with Esterhazy's writing, who, he added, in everybody's opinion, had relations with Col. Schwartzkoppen, the former German military attache at Paris, and the dissimilarities between the writing of the bordereau and the prisoner.

The members of the court-martial were apparently much interested and asked Prof. Molinier a number of questions, to which he replied, upholding his conclusion that Esterhazy was the writer of the bordereau.

Gen. Mercier requested to speak, and called attention to the fact that in his testimony before the Court of Cassation Prof. Molinier said a change was apparent in Esterhazy's handwriting, after 1894, and asked that the Professor's former evidence be read.

M. Labori, leading counsel for defense, inquired if Gen. Mercier intervened with the object of verifying Prof. Molinier's evidence. Counsel added that it seemed to him that Gen. Mercier intervened less in the character of a witness than as a representative of the government commissary. He would, therefore, be grateful to the General if he would kindly explain the bearing of his remark.

Mercier replied that on this special point he desired to confirm the evidence of Prof. Molinier, which, he said, corroborated M. Bertillon's statement that Esterhazy, the man of straw, changed his hand-writing in order to replace Dreyfus.

In conclusion, Gen. Mercier said:

"Having emphasized the point in regard to the change in Esterhazy's handwriting in 1897, perhaps before, I am satisfied." (Commotion.)

Prof. Giry, also of the School of Ancient Manuscripts, traversed ground similar to that covered by Prof. Molinier. He said the bordereau only had a superficial likeness to Dreyfus' handwriting, and asserted that it was certainly the work of Esterhazy.

The witness also said the bordereau was not written with the aid of the key words.

M. Labori asked if the witness had noticed a change in Esterhazy's caligraphy, and Prof. Giry replied that he had studied the question, but did not think there had been any marked change.

Counsel then asked whether Gen. Mercier had meant to intimate that Esterhazy's handwriting had become more or less like that of Dreyfus since 1894, to which the General replied that he had not wished to express an opinion, but he reiterated that M. Bertillon had shown that Esterhazy's handwriting had become more like that of the bordereau.

M. Labori retorted that in the case Gen. Mercier should not have repeated the evidence of M. Grenier before the Court of Cassation, as M. Grenier showed that Esterhazy's calligraphy had become less and less like the writing both of the bordereau and of Dreyfus.

M. Bertillon, at this juncture, said he desired to speak, but the president of the court, Col. Jouaust, hastily rose and said, amidst laughter:

"The sitting is suspended."

Then M. Bertillon resumed his seat in high dudgeon.

New and Strong Proof of the Guilt of Esterhazy.

On the resumption of the sitting, M. Georges Picot, a member of the institute, was called for the defense, M. Demange of counsel for the prisoner, explaining that Picot was summoned because, in May last, he had an interview with a foreign military attache, in the course of which mention was made of the document inserted in the dossier by Gen. Mercier.

Col. Jouaust cautioned the witness to be careful in his statements.

After promising to exercise care, M. Picot said that he had an interview with the Austro-Hungarian Military Attache,

Col. Jouaust stopped the witness, saying: "You cannot continue like this."

Maj. Carriere, the Government Commissary, also exclaimed, sharply: "I protest in the name of the Government and the State against the indiscretion committed by the witness."

M. Picot then recommenced his testimony, saying he had an interview with "a certain Military Attache" and that the conversation turned upon the Dreyfus case. The attache expressed surprise at the "incorrect attitude of French officers" in doubting the word of foreign officers.

"My impression," added the witness, "was that he was anxious to assert firmly and unequivocally the absolute innocence of Dreyfus. (Sensation.)

"Regarding the bordereau," continued M. Picot, "the attache said only three documents, enumerated, were referred to, the fact being that the others were padding, meant to swell the dossier."

The witness noticed that the attache employed the expression, "Hydraulic brake," and never "pneumatic brake." In regard to Esterhazy, the attache, M. Picot said, declared that he considered him a swindler.

The attache also asserted that Esterhazy had relations with Col. Schwartzkoppen, who dismissed him because Esterhazy only brought information devoid of interest.

"It was then," continued M. Picot, "that Esterhazy tried to enter the war office and almost succeeded, and it was then that he wrote to Col. Schwartzkoppen the letter since known as the bordereau. In reply to the writer of the bordereau," added M. Picot, "Col. Schwartzkoppen wrote the telegram card, known as the petit bleu, but on reflection he crumpled it up and threw it in the fireplace.

At this juncture Gen. Roget asked leave to speak, and stationing himself beside the witness he said he must strongly protest against M. Picot's evidence regarding the military attache's surprise that French officers did not believe their foreign colleagues.

"What does the witness think?" continued Gen. Roget, "of the foreign officer, who, having caused the publication in the Figaro of a statement of Gen. Mercier was afterwards obliged to acknowledge the authorship of a document the paternity of which he at first denied?"

M. Picot retorted that he had only repeated statements made to him and had abstained from comments on them. He had, therefore, nothing to say in reply to Gen. Roget's questions.

M. Demange, intervening, asked Gen. Roget if he did not think the foreign officer's mistake was excusable since the word "report" had been applied to a document not possessing the character of the report.

"It is not for me to accuse or excuse," replied the General. "I only confine myself to pointing out to the court that the conversation repeated occurred in May—that is to say, at the time the investigation of the Court of Cassation was already known. For my part I only intervened because French officers have been arraigned, and when being accused French officers have the right to reply."

Did Dreyfus Have Information Contained in the Bordereau?

Deloye, director of artillery at the War Office, was called to the witness bar. He repeated his explanations given before the Court of Cassation as to the various peculiarities of the artillery, particularly with reference to the brake of the "120" short guns. The witness said he considered that in 1894 it would have been impossible for any officer serving with his regiment to communicate anything in regard to the brake of this gun. He added that, although the gun was in use at Rennes, the officers forming the court-martial, among whom was an officer commanding a "120" short gun, had only the vaguest ideas about this gun, while in 1894 the details of the "pneumatic brake" could have been known to very few officers.

The court closely questioned Gen. Deloye, and a Judge asked when it was known that the German shell "C 91" presented analogies to the Robin shell."

Gen. Deloye: In 1896.

The Judge: Not before 1894?

Gen. Deloye: No.

The Judge: It was the information in regard to the pneumatic brake, contained in the provisional instructions for the "120" short guns which was communicated?"

Gen. Deloye: Yes.

The Judge: Was it possible for an officer of the headquarters staff to procure the Firing Manuel?

Gen. Deloye: It was not impossible if he adduced a plausible pretext.

Col. Jouaust: Was the brake manufactured at Bourges?

Gen. Deloye: Yes, at the foundry.

The Judge: And the Robin shell?

Gen. Deloye: At the gunnery school.

M. Demange: Was the distance between the two establishments great?

Gen. Deloye: The foundry was contiguous to the gunnery school.

When Dreyfus was asked if he had anything to say, he replied: "I do not intend to discuss the terms of the bordereau, nor advance theories about it. It must be known what is in the notes and what is their nature and their value before theories can be suggested."

"Mention has been made of the '120 short gun.' I state briefly for the second time all that I knew in 1889 and 1890 at Bourges of this gun. I knew the principle of the pneumatic brake.

"Gen. Mercier's deposition recalled the fact that he was inspector general at Bourges in 1890. He must remember the lecture given in the presence of all the officers, both of the gunnery school and foundry and all the departments of Bourges and the officers of the garrison artillery.

"He must recollect the final lecture given on the subject of the pneumatic brake, of which he made the customary rough sketch. This is to be found in the St. Cyr lectures. All my knowledge of the pneumatic brake was derived from the lectures.

"As regards the brake itself, I have seen it twice, once in the courtyard of the gunnery school at Bourges, and once in the school of war. I have not seen it in action. I have not seen the '120 short gun' fired. I have never been present at the firing trials, but the probationers attended.

"Mention has also been made of the shrapnel shell of 1891. The knowledge of Gen. Deloye on this point is much more extensive than mine and everything he has said is quite correct. In 1894 I studied the shell and, in a necessarily incomplete study, reached the conclusion that the shell of the 1891 pattern was a shell in which the bullets were kept in place by a smoke generating substance intended to produce dense clouds of smoke on bursting, in order to facilitate range finding. These are the conclusions I reached in 1891 and I chronicled them in a report made at the time."

When the prisoner was reseated, Maj. Carriere announced that he had received from Gen. Chanoine information that by order of the Minister of War the Third Artillery Department had prepared a dossier of the documents the defense requested and that those documents could be submitted to the court by Gen. Deloye under the same conditions as observed in regard to the secret dossier. The Major, therefore, asked the court to sit in secret or behind closed doors.

M. Demange asked that Majs. Hartmann and Ducros be allowed to attend when Gen. Deloye communicated the documents. After the court had deliberated in private, Col. Jouaust announced that it would sit in secret to-morrow morning in order to consider the dossier and that Majs. Hartmann and Ducros were authorized to attend.

The court adjourned at 11:15 o'clock.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN THE EIGHTH.

Shackleford Elected on an Anti-Expansion Platform.

HIS PLURALITY MAY BE 4500.

REPUBLICAN VOTE SHOWS A MARKED DECREASE.

Both Democrats and Populists Gain, the "Kingdom of Callaway" Being Again Far in the Lead in Its Democratic Majorities.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 30.—The successor of Richard Parks Bland of the Eighth District of Missouri in Congress is Dorsey W. Shackleford, now Judge of the Fourteenth Judicial Circuit of the State, married and 46 years old. He beat J. W. Vosholl, a lawyer of Linn, Osage County, by from 3000 to 4500 plurality, standing on a platform which declared:

We are unreservedly opposed to the militarism and imperialism of President McKinley. We want no empire. We are willing to stand by the Old Republic.

This was the plank, in essence, for which Bland, the dead, stood—"four square to the winds"—in the last State Democratic Convention. The plank was there rejected. The Eighth District stands by its departed leader.

The platform on which Judge Shackleford made his contest also reiterated the Chicago platform, with distinct affirmation of the plank declaring for "free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without the aid or consent of any other nation on earth," which was Dick Bland's platform for nearly thirty years. Opposition to trusts was also one of the main points of Judge Shackleford's campaign.

The returns by counties are as follows:

	Shackleford	Vosholl	Hale
Callaway	3,718	1,352	...
Pulaski	900	373	11

The returns from Camden, Osage and Morgan counties are not official. The Populist vote is not reported from several counties and will, of course, be somewhat larger than here recorded. In 1898 the total Populist vote in the district was only 285.

At the last regular election in the Eighth District Bland was the successful candidate, defeating Vosholl, the same opponent whom Shackleford has defeated. The vote was:

Counties.	Bland.	Vosholl.	Hale.
Callaway	3,718	1,352	2

THE NEW CONGRESSMAN.

He Has a Faculty of Attaining Victory When Defeat Seems Certain.

Judge Dorsey W. Shackleford, who has just been elected to succeed the late Richard P. Bland in Congress, is unlike his distinguished predecessor in many respects, but, like Bland, however, he comes of rugged ancestry. He is aggressive and pugnacious. Bland was gentle. Shackleford, too, is blunt. There are no more "frills" in his manner and speech than adorn his body, which is always clothed in the plainest manner.

He is now serving his second term on the Circuit bench. The first time he was nominated the convention took about 1600 ballots. He has a faculty of attaining victory just at the moment defeat seems certain. All his campaigns have been hard fought and some persons might say that he has won them by luck. His friends claim that he won by good generalship.

Shackleford is of medium height. His head is covered with stiff, close-growing iron-gray hair, and his heavy mustache is the same color. His body is sinewy and loose-jointed. His skin is burned to swarthiness by exposure to the sun and wind. His eyes are gray-blue and bright.

On the bench he has been accused by those who do not like him of being undignified. In his judicial manner his friends see only evidences of absolute freedom from gloss and false dignity.

He is married and his home is in Boonville. He is a native Missourian, born in Sweet Springs (then Brownsville), in 1853.

M'LEAN IS NOMINATED.

Named the Candidate of Ohio Democrats for Governor by the State Convention.

CONVENTION HALL, ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 30.—John R. McLean was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 402½ ballots, as the Democratic candidate for Governor.

SAYS ITS NOT SIGNIFICANT

But Chairman Akins of the Republican State Central Committee Doesn't Like Shackleford's Plurality.

Chairman T. J. Akins of the Republican State Committee will not admit that the result of the Eighth District Congressional election contains a warning to the Republicans that their war and imperialistic policy is not pleasing to the people.

He seems to think that the election of Shackleford by an increased plurality is simply another evidence of the blind devotion of Democrats to their party and candidates.

He admits, however, that he is disappointed by the size of Shackleford's plurality. He expected it to be less than 1000.

"We would have been satisfied," he said, "if we could have cut the Democratic majority in half, but we have not done it. I do not think the imperialism issue cut any figure.

"Democrats were aroused by the fear of losing the Bland district and turned out to vote their full strength. They had all the influence of the State Administration in favor of their candidate, and the aid of the most prominent Democrats in the State.

"It is an unfortunate thing in Missouri politics that Democrats have been trained to vote for their candidates, good or bad. It is true that the candidate in this case was weak, and I have no doubt that in some quarters the aid of the Governor was a handicap instead of a benefit to him, but still the Democrats of the district could not help turning out to vote."

CAR MEN PRESENT GIFTS

Former Employes Honor Joseph Minary, Capt. McCuloch and C. Nesbitt Duffy.

A large number of the employes of the Southern Electric Railway gathered at the hall of the Relief Association, 4041 South Broadway, Tuesday night, to bid farewell to Joseph S. Minary, who for many years was general manager of the road, and who is leaving it to be superintendent of a northern division of the United Railways Co.

An address was delivered by William H. Hughes, expressive of the regard of the men for Mr. Minary and their regret at losing him. Mr. Hughes, on behalf of the men, presented to Mr. Minary a gold chain and locket, containing portraits of himself and Mrs. Minary, who is held in high esteem by the men. Mr. Minary replied feelingly and presented $160 to the Relief Association, which he had collected from the officers of the company.

Capt. Robert McCulloch and C. Nesbitt Duffy, retiring officers of the National System, which has been absorbed by the United Railways Co., were the recipients Tuesday evening of a number of handsome presents from their former employes.

Mr. Duffy received a handsome open-face gold watch, upon which was engraved, "From the National Railway Boys." Capt. McCulloch's gift was a beautiful piece of Dresden china, hand-painted. The gifts were presented without ceremony. The two gentlemen found them at their homes when they returned in the evening.

STOLE MONEY AND STAMPS

Burglars Visited F. H. Fricke's Drug Store and Invaded the Cash Box but Ignored the Safe.

Burglars entered the drug store of F. H. Fricke, Tenth street and Washington avenue, Tuesday night and got away with about $15 in cash and postage stamps.

Entrance was gained through a rear window. The cash box, where the stamps are kept, was broken open. The safe in the rear of the store was not tampered with. If any other articles of value were taken they were of such small importance that Mr. Fricke did not notice it.

KIDNAPPED BABY RECOVERED

Mrs. J. Albert Bayer's Big Brother Bluffed Her Husband Who Had Abandoned Their Little Son.

J. Albert Bayer, a conductor on the St. Louis & Meramec River Railroad, living at 6925 Magnolia avenue, made an unsuccessful attempt to abduct his 3-year-old son from his wife at Sparta, Ill., Tuesday.

His wife organized a rescue party and took the child from him on the Mobile & Ohio accommodation train at Baldwin, Ill.

Six months ago Mrs. Bayer went to Sparta to visit her parents. She went with her husband's consent, as she said she wished to stay only a month.

The month stretched out to two, then to three. Bayer became impatient and wrote to his wife. But she had found that she loved the old home too well to leave it again. He made trips to Sparta, hoping to persuade her to return, but she was firm.

Monday Bayer put into execution a plan he had been contemplating since his wife positively refused to return home. With his mother and Mr. and Mrs. Langwith he took a train for Sparta.

The abduction was a success so far as it went. When the mother learned what had happened she got her big brother to help her and started in pursuit. They caught the father and his party at Percy and boarded the same train. Near Baldwin Mrs. Bayer's big brother demanded the child and Bayer handed him over.

She nominates Arthur Garesche as her executor.

THE YOUNG MEN RULE.

Transvaal Cabinet Is Anxious to Fight Great Britain.

SEATLE, Wash., Aug. 30.—David L. Wilson, who claims to be an agent of the British Government and to have important papers for the home office, has arrived here en route to London from the Transvaal.

Mr. Wilson says he has no doubt that there will be a war.

"I have been three years in the Transvaal and know the leaders of the Boer Government well. President Kruger does not want war. He is now an old and infirm man. As such he has not the control of the Cabinet that he had once. The Cabinet is composed of young blood who want independence and who, I may say, will never give up until they have either obtained it or been wiped out of existence by the English forces. This is why I say there will be war.

"The story sent out that Gen. Joubert has found that the reserve shells in the Pretoria forts are ineffective is probably true. A partial knowledge of this fact has been known for some time in British ministerial circles. There will be no trouble in replacing the ammunition, however.

"Gen. Joubert, I know personally, is opposed to war. He will lead the Boer forces when war comes. He is a fighter, a man of courage, and will simply be a sacrifice to his ambition.

"When the blow is struck it will be a fatal one in the Transvaal. The British have for months been massing troops and practically ready at this time, if necessity demanded immediate action."

Mr. Wilson takes issue with the suggestion that Hon. Joseph Chamberlain is in any way responsible for the trouble.

KRUGER QUOTES SCRIPTURE.

The Transvaal Position Defined in Psalm 83.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The Johannesburg correspondent of the Morning Post says:

President Kruger, in an interview regarding the crisis, said he considered the Boer position best defined by Psalm 83.

The 83d Psalm reads in part:

Keep not Thou silence, O God: Hold not thy peace, and be not still, O God.

For, lo, Thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate Thee have lifted up the head.

They have taken crafty counsel against thy people and consulted against thy hidden ones.

They have said, Come and let us cut them off from being a nation; that the name of Israel may be no more in remembrance.

For they are consulted together with one consent: they are confederate against thee.

CHURCH PEOPLE INDIGNANT

They Do Not Want the St. Charles Fair Held on Sunday and Threaten to Boycott It.

Church people at St. Charles, Mo., are indignant because the St. Charles Driving Park and Fair Association has decided to hold the annual fair, which begins on Thursday, open on Sunday.

The fair has been a source of considerable pride to the people of St. Charles County since it was opened a dozen years ago. It proved successful, and had the active support of all the people in the county. The prizes offered for all exhibits, particularly for farm and garden products, and for art needlework, attracted keen competition.

In the past deference was shown the opinions of those who do not believe that the fair should be kept open on the Sabbath. This year the association decided to extend the fair over Sunday, expecting that the receipts of that day would exceed those of any other day.

When this decision was announced, it met an indignant protest from strict Sabbatarians, which surprised those who had brought about the change of policy. The protest was particularly strong from a large number of women who have heretofore been ardent supporters of the fair.

Many of these have been exhibitors in one way or another, and they now declare that if the Sunday opening policy is adhered to they will withdraw their support from the fair, and will use their influence with others to do the same.

So far the fair management has remained firm and all arrangements have been made to carry out its original intention. The town of St. Charles is much worked up over the question, and it will surprise no one if the strict Sabbatarians remain away from the fair entirely during the four days of its annual meeting, beginning Thursday.

HE FOUGHT ST. LOUIS MEN

A Rhode Island Negro Picture Peddler Injures Henry C. Scott and John D. Davis.

Henry C. Scott, president of the Laclede Power Co. of St. Louis was assaulted by a negro, at his summer home in Jamestown, R. I., Tuesday, and seriously hurt. John D. Davis, also of this city, who went to Mr. Scott's assistance, was also hurt by the negro, but not badly.

The negro, who the police there say is a bad man, was peddling pictures. He insulted Scott, who ordered him off the premises. He declined to go and showed fight, when Scott attempted to put him off.

Davis went to Scott's help, and was struck in the face.

Several others were bruised before the negro was taken into custody.

Scott was struck with a golf stick and knocked senseless. His scalp was laid open, and several of his fingers were bitten to the bone.

HE THRASHED THE BURGLAR.

Victor Street Saloonkeeper Didn't Need a Policeman.

CAUGHT A ROBBER ALL ALONE.

THEN HE WHIPPED HIM FOR TRYING TO STEAL.

A. J. Andresen Demonstrates That the Occupation of Burglary Is Neither Pleasant Nor Profitable in Some Neighborhoods.

A. J. Adresen of 111 Victor street, was his own policeman, judge, jury and executioner when he found a burglar in his house, Tuesday night. He is a firm believer in the efficacy of corporal punishment as applied to the criminal classes and when he had an opportunity to give a practical illustration of his principles, he seized it with avidity.

Andresen conducts a boarding house and a saloon at 111 Victor street. He usually closes the saloon about 11 o'clock by which time his patrons, mostly hardworking employes of the neighboring iron and steel plants, having retired.

Andresen is a splendidly built sixfooter, with muscles of steel. He is a Norseman and has the courage of the old Vikings. It is a matter of pride with him that he has never met his physical master.

He was putting things to rights, preparatory to going to bed Tuesday night. The windows were down, the front and side doors were closed and all the lights save one were out. He was bending over his drawer, making up the day's cash when a noise attracted his attention. He realized that the back door, which was unlocked, was being opened and that the incomer evidently wished to make his entry without notice. Andresen stationed himself behind an open closet door. A man slowly emerged from the darkness and stepped within the circle of light cast by the one lamp. The visitor stepped towards the lamp and as he lowered it, Andresen quietly slipped back and secured the door through which the fellow had come.

Then, still unobserved by the burglar, he got behind him and suddenly catching him by the arm, said in an ordinary conversational tone, "What do you want?"

With a half-smothered yell of fear the prisoner made a flying leap and nearly escaped. Andresen grappled with him and threw him heavily to the floor. Then the saloon keeper coolly sat upon this burglar and after extorting from him a confession that he had come in in search of plunder proceeded to expound his views of crime and criminals with particular reference to burglars of the class his captive represented.

Andresen punctuated his remarks with dots and dashes in the shape of sundry digs and punches in various portions of his victim's anatomy. Then, the burglar having professed sincere repentance, Andresen released him.

Andresen made no attempt to discover if the marauder was armed, so confident was he of his ability to take care of himself.

STRONG PRAYER FOR FILIPINOS.

Feature of the Ohio Democratic Convention.

MET VIGOROUS APPLAUSE.

ANTI-IMPERIALIST SENTIMENT IN STRIKING FORCE.

The Chicago Platform, With 16 to 1 in the Front, Is Indorsed and the President's Expansion Policy Denounced.

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 30.—Memorial Hall was packed when Hon. W. S. Thomas, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, to-day called the State Convention to order. Very many were unable to get admittance. Over the stage there was a life-sized portrait of Bryan and others were placed through the hall.

In the opening prayer Very Rev. L. F. Kearney prayed for the deliverance of the Filipinos from "the brute force" now being inflicted upon them. The prayer was so radical and forcible throughout that it brought forth rounds of most vociferous applause. A. J. Andrews then presented a gavel from timber on the lands in this county, where Thomas A. Hendricks, S. S. Cox, Lewis Cass and Hugh J. Jewett were born and reared.

Chairman W. S. Thomas accepted the gavel and made an address on the work of the last campaign and the great contest that was to be waged in the year preceding the presidential election.

Judge W. F. Mooney, temporary chairman of the convention, was then introduced and received with a great ovation, speaking as follows:

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

"There will be to-day no contest as to the platform declarations which our party shall make. There is no difference of opinion. The Democratic party of Ohio stands squarely upon every plank of the Chicago platform of 1896. We believed it then and we believe it now.

"The people who sent us here do not believe in a double standard of Democracy. In 1896 the test was, 'Are you loyal to the platform?' and that is the Ohio test today.

"The party in Ohio is too thoroughly honest, too completely convinced, too desperately in earnest, to desire to be misunderstood. The reaffirmation of the national platform does not eliminate and does not fail to both recognize and emphasize that we demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio, at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent or assistance of any nation on earth.

"The silver question is not dead, and till then men cease to think, till the American people are willing to take their laws from Britain, till the Republican party recognizes that not the existence but the distribution of wealth makes prosperity, till ease comes to the agricultural classes, till a fair wage is paid to the mechanic and till content and satisfaction come to those who toil, until silver is restored to its proper place in the coinage, the Democratic party will stand by the Chicago platform.

"The money question is not, however, the only issue in this campaign. Everything, from pine lands to peanuts, from steel rails to sardines, from strawboard to sugar, from tin cans to tobacco, from crackers to chewing gum, has been organized into a trust.

"Not only are these aggregations of wealth intended to control prices and to beat down wages, but in politics they threaten to affect our liberties.

"We are informed by an eminent Republican who professes to know his own business that no political issue can be made of the trust question. And why not? Because it is ineffectual? Because the State cannot control its creatures? Because these giant corporations have too much power?

"The Republican party is in power in the State and nation. Why does it not, instead of denouncing the trusts on paper, prosecute them in the courts, and why does it not hold up the hands of officers who try in this respect to do their duty? But is not all this in line with what was to be expected? To be consistent, must not the Republican party favor the trusts? To pay a debt of gratitude, must not that party be for the trusts? Must not that party, which favored a tariff to eliminate competition so that the favorites of the Government might plunder the pockets of the people, be in favor of trusts while they take the people by the throat? Is Hanna against the trusts? Carry the news to Monnett. Hanna against the trusts? In these latter days do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles?

"We charge that the trusts of the country own this administration, and that their title to it was acquired by purchase and, until Mr. Hanna is dethroned, we insist that the trusts will continue as now to be in possession of their property so acquired. That the trusts can be controlled by the States only, and not by the general Government, is a matter of no consequence to us, if they can be controlled at all; the Republican party is at fault. So long as the Attorney General of the United States is selected and inducted into office because he is a trust lawyer, and so long as an Attorney General of the State of Ohio is retired to private life because he has undertaken in this respect to enforce the law, the Republican party must fall in its declaration that it is opposed to trusts.

"In condemning the doctrine of imperialism, we in no manner abandon our soldiers in the field. But at the same time, whenever a purse-proud, trust-controlled administration dares array our flag or forces against a people fighting for the God-given right to rule themselves, whenever the sum total of a people's offending is that they desire to be free, it will be the duty of the Democratic party to be brave enough to expose the pretense, to tear the mask from the covered face of fraud and greed and avarice, and proclaim that the recognition of such a war for such purposes is unamerican and must be brought to a close.

"We proclaim that there shall be beneath our flag no slaves, no subjects, no colonists, who cannot be citizens, and, least we be late, we proclaim it now. Commercial empire must not be placed before principle; the doctrine, the recognition of which made us a great, free people, must not be ignored, departed from or limited, and we profess our lasting adherence to the doctrine that all men are created free and equal.

"We affirm that the war in the Philippines, as at present conducted, is one of criminal aggression, and we find no difference in the situation the administration occupies than the one occupied by Spain in the Philippines before the surrender. Whatever rights we have were acquired by purchase from Spain; our right is no higher.

"We declare that while no proclamation has been made the fact is that this administration intends to hold the Islands as a dependency; that the prosecution of the war is a part of a political scheme and the government of those islands is to be used as a manner of payment for political services."

FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH.

After the adoption of rules the reports of credentials were presented. The majority report was as expected with the exception of Highland County, from which county it was recommended that the anti-McLean delegation be seated.

The minority report related only to Cuyahoga County and recommended the seating of the Wilson delegation instead of the Salen-McKay delegates. Bitter speeches were made on both sides.

A motion to lay the minority report on the table was lost. The previous question was ordered on a motion to substitute the minority report for the majority report.

The counties were called after viva voce votes were disputed, and the vote to substitute the minority report for the majority report resulted 341 yeas and 389 nays.

The result of this ballot caused quite a stir, as it was the first open test of strength. Some McLean men voted "yes," although his managers were trying to line up all their men against the minority report. All of the field against McLean voted in the affirmative.

The 56 contested votes of Cuyahoga County could not be cast on this ballot.

The majority report was then adopted, when the reports on permanent organization and resolutions were adopted.

THE PLATFORM.

The principal planks in the platform follow:

1. We heartily reaffirm the entire Chicago platform of 1896; and we especially emphasize the financial plank therein, and we continue to demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold as equal in primary money at the rate of 16 to 1, independent of all other nations in the world.

2. The Hon. Wm. J. Bryan still retains our entire confidence and we demand his renomination in 1900.

3. We recognize the solemn fact that our Government cannot be both republican and imperial.

4. We stand in line with Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant and all other American patriots, living and dead, in desiring the perpetuity of our republic.

5. We are radically and unalterably opposed to imperialism in the United States of America. When we have solved some of the race problems that confront us at home, then by example, we can proclaim the blessings that flow from free institutions and thus procure "Benevolent assimilation" without "Criminal aggression."

6. We are opposed to entangling alliances with foreign kingdoms and empires.

7. We commend the action of Congress in declaring our war with Spain was for humanity and not for conquest.

8. We proudly recognize the valor and glorious achievements of our gallant soldiers and sailors from Bunker Hill to this very hour as being among the most thrilling and glorious in the history of the world, but we profoundly regret that American soldiers are being unlawfully used in the name of liberty to crush and destroy dawning republicanism in the Orient, and we denounce the secret and vicious alliance now in evidence between England and the Republican Administration whereby this nation may become involved in war with foreign nations.

9. We demand that the Cubans and Filipinos not only be permitted, but encouraged, to establish independent republics, deriving all of their governmental powers from the consent of the governed.

13. We favor the initiative and referendum, the passage of the eight-hour labor law, the more rigid inspection of mines and workshops, the prohibition of sweatshops and the abolition of the convict system of prison labor.

14. We reclare that all unlawful combinations of capital are the legitimate fruits of a gold standard and other corrupt Republican legislation on questions of tariff, we demand that all articles the prices on which are controlled by the trusts be placed on the free lists. We denounce the Attorney General of the United States as appointed from the State of New Jersey, the hotbed of trusts, for his refusal to enforce the statutes of the United States against them.

M'LEAN MEN WIN.

The vote on the adoption of the majority report on credentials was 437 yeas and 393 nays. The Cuyahoga delegation was still prohibited from voting on this ballot.

With the 56 Cuyahoga votes added to the 437 the McLean men then had 493 to 309 of their combined opposition and took everything without further contest.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was decided last night was amended so as to make permanent the temporary organization. This continued Hon. Thomas J. Cogan as secretary, as well as Judge Mooney as chairman and left the anti-McLean men without representation.

The only concession that had been made in the committee last night was on the committee on permanent organization, but after the Kilbourne men had claimed it as a victory, that report was not adopted and the temporary organization was continued.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 93,284]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For some time I have thought of writing to you to let you know of the great benefit I have received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Soon after the birth of my first child, I commenced to have spells with my spine. Every month I grew worse and at last became so bad that I found I was gradually losing my mind.

Mrs. Johnson Saved from Insanity by Mrs. Pinkham

"The doctors treated me for female troubles, but I got no better. One doctor told me that I would be insane. I was advised by a friend to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and before I had taken all of the first bottle my neighbors noticed the change in me.

"I have now taken five bottles and cannot find words sufficient to praise it. I advise every woman who is suffering from any female weakness to give it a fair trial. I thank you for your good medicine."—MRS. GERTRUDE M. JOHNSON, JONESBORO, TEXAS.

"I had female trouble of all kinds, had three doctors, but only grew worse. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and used the Sanative Wash, and cannot praise your remedies enough."—MRS. EFFIE PERKINS, PEARL, LA.

JOHN MAHLER IS SUED

HIS WIFE WANTS A DIVORCE AND MAKES CHARGES.

SAYS THAT HE NEGLECTS HER.

The Difficulties of a Dancing Master's Family Become Public by the Filing of This Suit.

Mrs. Anna Isabelle Mahler, through her attorneys, Boyle, Priest & Lehman, filed suit Wednesday for a divorce from John A. Mahler.

She charges that he has failed to contribute anything to her support recently, and has treated her with coldness and indifference, showing frequently an aversion to her companionship.

She also charges that he has absented himself from her for long periods at a time and, upon his return to her, has refused to tell her where he had been, and declined to make any explanation of his conduct.

She says she married him April 1, 1879, and separated from him in January, 1898, having lived apart from him since. Two children were born of the marriage—Albert J., aged 18 years, and Lucille, aged 14.

The defendant is a dancing master of considerable local reputation.

SHE WANTS TO COMPROMISE

Mrs. McCullough Is Anxious to Drop the Case Against John Morefield.

Mrs. McCullough called at the Four Courts Tuesday to have a warrant withdrawn which was issued July 17 against John Morefield, who, she alleges, stole $400 from her.

The warrant was issued shortly after Mrs. McCullough left her husband on Clara avenue and went to live with John Morefield on Papin street. The woman alleges that while she was living with him Morefield took $400 from her. The police have not been able to locate Morefield.

The reason given by Mrs. McCullough Tuesday for asking to have the warrant withdrawn was that the uncle of Morefield, who is an architect, had volunteered to give her $150 if she would drop the case.

Attorney Johnson went before Judge Clark and asked him what he should do in the matter, saying that he did not think the case ought to be dropped.

Judge Clark continued the case and instructed the Sheriff to make diligent search for Morefield.

The men and boys who leave Thursday will remain on the Independence until the training ship Hartford, which was Farragut's flagship, is ready to sail on her around-the-world cruise, which is expected to be about Oct. 1. The St. Louis recruits will make the cruise on the Hartford.

CURIOUS CASE OF APHASIA

Frank Blanck Talks Backward, Walks Backward and Spells the Same Way.

Frank Blanck, aged 48 years, is living backwards these days. Dr. Nietert, at the City Hospital, will ascertain the nature of Blanck's ailment.

When brought to the City Dispensary Wednesday morning Blanck spelled his name "Germany," gave his age and address backwards.

His clothes were on wrong side out, which he told Dr. Vogel was lucky. When told to get into the ambulance Blanck said backwards that he came in an automobile and was going to leave in one.

He was convinced that the Dispensary ambulance was the latest improvement in automobile building. He then backed out and into the vehicle. He gave his address at 417 South Fourth street.

Mr. Mason said Wednesday that he would do nothing until all the rolls were in.

Clarence Hoblitzelle, the secretary of the new Board of Election Commissioners, was there to see Mr. Wurzburger. He wanted the key to the secretary's desk. MARRIAGES OF NOTE

UNION OF FREDERICK J. LEMP AND MISS IRENE VIRDEN.

ROMANCE OF MISS MATHES.

Cupid is in the saddle in this town just now, judging from the number of weddings recorded. Especially is this the case in society circles, with the result that more than one belle of last season will enter upon this winter's round of galety in the garb of dignity that is supposed to hedge about a matron.

Probably the most notable wedding of this week is that of Miss Irene Virden and Mr. Frederick J. Lemp, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Josephine Virden, 4330 McPherson avenue.

No bridemaids or groomsmen will assist, but at the appointed time Miss Virden and Mr. Lemp will descend the staircase and take their position in the drawing room before a tall mirror and beneath a canopy of smilax, with roses dropping from it, which is to reach from mirror to chandelier. A stringed orchestra will play the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus and soft music during the service. Father Orff of the Cathedral chapel will be the officiating clergyman.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner will be served at a long L-shaped table, which will be decorated in La France roses. Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom will depart for the West for a lengthy stay, embracing Colorado, the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Coast.

Miss Virden is the eldest daughter of the late B. M. Virden, one of St. Louis' best known lumber merchants a few years ago. He died in 1896.

Mr. Lemp is the fourth son of William J. Lemp, and the first of the five Lemp boys to marry.

Hoefle—De Lancey.

The wedding of Miss Pearl de Lancey to Mr. Tony Hoefle takes place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, 1519 Washington avenue. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends will be present.

The bride and groom will go at once to housekeeping and will be "at home" to their friends at 2322 Texas avenue.

Mr. Hoefle is a clerk at the Laclede-Merchants' National Bank.

Kingsbery—Doerner.

Miss Frances Doerner, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. August Doerner, of 2950 Dickson street, will be married to Mr. Wirt M. Kingsbery of 2933 Morgan street Wednesday evening, the wedding being strictly a family affair, with no cards sent.

The marriage is not in any way a surprise to the friends of either of the parties, as a public announcement of the engagement was made several weeks ago.

Miss Doerner comes of one of the oldest of St. Louis families, while Mr. Kingsbery, whose family lives in Galesburg, Ill., only came to St. Louis three years ago, being at present the foreman of the packing department of the Dozier Cracker Co.

The couple will leave Saturday for the East, visiting friends in Washington, and returning to St. Louis about the middle of September.

Green—Lumpkin.

Samuel M. Green and Miss Emma Lumpkin were married in St. Paul's church Tuesday afternoon. The groom is superintendent of the Missouri School for the Blind, and his wife has been a teacher there. The Rev. Morris Kemp performed the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Green are well known in the ranks of sighted teachers of the sightless. None of the Board of Managers of the institution knew that Miss School was re-opened there would be a change in the roster.

Stowe—Simpson.

Papers from Scotland contain particulars of the marriage in St. Giles' Cathedral, Edinburgh, on Aug. 3, of Miss Agnes Maude Simpson and Mr. Griswold Stowe. The bride spent nearly all her life in St. Louis, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simpson, who resided for many years at 3804 West Pine boulevard. The bridemaids, the Hon. Mae Hamilton, the Hon. Clarice Hamilton, the Hon. Lenore Hamilton and Misses Agnes and May Williamson, all cousins of the bride. The service at St. Giles' Cathedral was fully choral, and the bride is said to have looked wonderfully lovely.

MR. AND MRS. VALENTINE GLUECK.

The couple will visit Mr. Stowe's relatives. Some time in October they will arrive in St. Louis, where they have secured apartments at the Westminster.

Glueck—Mathes.

Miss Carrie Mathes was married Tuesday night to Mr. Valentine Glueck, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. G. Mathes, 4373 Cook avenue. Their engagement had lasted for six months, and was the result of somewhat of a romance.

Charles Mathes married a sister of the groom some time ago, and they lived at Mrs. Mathes'. There Valentine Glueck went to see his sister. There, too, he saw his brother-in-law's sister, and soon his visits to her were much oftener than were his calls to see his married sister. The result of these calls was the wedding of Tuesday.

Steinecke—De Wein.

John Steinecke of Shrewsbury Park, St. Louis County, and Miss Sallie De Wein, daughter of Jacob De Wein, road overseer of Old Orchard, will be married Wednesday evening by the Rev. W. P. Rutledge, pastor of the Old Orchard M. E. church.

THE CORONER'S VIEW IGNORED.

Warrant for Murder Against Thomas McHale's Slayer.

A warrant charging murder in the second degree was issued Wednesday against Henry Albert, who shot Thomas McHale Aug. 14.

Aug. 24 the Coroner's jury held Albert not guilty, but a warrant for assault to kill was issued on which he was arraigned Wednesday.

A BODY BLOW TO THE SYNDICATES

Incomplete returns from the Eighth Missouri Congressional District indicate the election of Judge Shackleford by an increased majority over that of the late Representative Bland. It is a decisive and significant Democratic victory under circumstances which gave hope and comfort to Republicans. The Democrats lacked the power of Mr. Bland's name and influence as a great leader. The contest for the Democratic nomination was prolonged and acrimonious. The Democrats had the unpopularity in the State administration to bear. The Populists had a candidate in the field. The Republicans counted upon all of these factors and staked everything on the defeat of Judge Shackleford or the substantial reduction of the Democratic vote. All of the State organs and leaders participated in the contest. Yet the result was a disastrous Republican defeat.

The issue forced by the Republicans and upon which they counted for gains, was the expansion policy of President McKinley. The issue of imperialism and of the Philippine war was clearly defined in the platform, and while the result proves the fidelity of the Democrats to the party programme, it signifies more; it signifies popular disapproval of the McKinley Administration's policy. The increased vote may be taken as a decided rebuke to the men who are leading the United States away from the constitution and the foundation principles of our Government into the dangerous path of empire for the benefit of the syndicates who are exploiting the American people.

Imperialism and the trusts got a body blow in the Eighth Congressional District.

The way to close the winerooms is to close them.

COST OF CHURCH CARPETS.

The Chicago Advance, a religious newspaper, has been looking into the cost of things, especially church carpets.

The cost of carpets is direct and indirect. In the case investigated the direct cost was $800, but the total expenditure was estimated at $4000.

The entertainment given by the women of the church is criticised. The items are, work, worry, nervous strain, bodily weariness and heartache of 100 women; labor of men, women and children eating the stuff provided; extortion at the booths; colds and coughs contracted while in attendance at the function; demoralization of the church consequent upon the entertainment; curtailment of legitimate giving.

This is a formidable account. But if church fairs are such woeful, costly and altogether painful functions, why not abolish them and be content with carpets obtained in the business-like fashion of bargaining.

Getting Rid of the Slums.—The City Council of Liverpool, England, has appropriated $350,000 for the purchase and destruction of unsanitary dwellings. The changes made will affect about 3000 persons. The city has destroyed 4200 houses within the last ten years, replacing them with buildings constructed on sanitary lines. As Birmingham has already pursued the same method in renovating 25 acres of its slum districts, it is evident that the day of the vile slum is numbered in these cities.

NOW CLOSE THE WINEROOMS.

Excise Commissioner Higgins says the winerooms are illegal and can be closed by the co-operation of the Police Department. But he intimates that if the police will not do their share by furnishing him with evidence he will do nothing. He says he knows of some saloonkeepers who are breaking the law, "but it is useless to proceed against a few and let the many continue breaking the law."

Suppose the police should follow this theory in dealing with criminals. How would the city fare if lawbreakers generally were left alone because it is impossible to reach but a certain proportion of them?

Is it not the Excise Commissioner's duty to proceed against a single law-breaking saloonkeeper?

Let this mutual fault-finding between departments cease, and let the Excise Department and the Police Department cooperate. In any event, if one department does not uphold the other, that department which has enough sense of responsibility to go on and perform its duty should do so while a single way is open for the prosecution and punishment of law-breakers as the law requires.

A reduction in the remuneration of street car employes is much more likely than a reduction in fares.

TAKING CHANCES WITH WORKMEN'S LIVES.

Explaining the collapse of the huge steel arches of the new Coliseum in Chicago, E. W. Shankland, head of the firm in charge of the work, said that the diagonal bracing of the two north arches were not connected up, nor were the sub-purlieus in place.

Without completing the bracing and binding of the 33-ton arches the working structure was removed. To save time the men took chances, with the result that nine workmen were killed outright, four were fatally injured and two are missing.

The supervisors of the building express deep regrets, which they undoubtedly feel. But regrets do not correct the results of carelessness and they do not restore the dead. They do not atone for criminal negligence. Responsibility for taking risks on other men's lives should be enforced upon contractors.

Not the rate of wages, but the number of days' work given and the total amount workingmen can earn in a year, should be the true test of prosperity. Wages of $2.50 a day sounds well, but an average of two days' work in a week at such wages make the figures farcical.

HUNTING FOR THE POLE.

The return of the Wellman expedition from the arctic regions brings up once more the subject of exploration in that frigid quarter of the earth.

Plain men wonder why so many are willing to undergo infinite hardship and danger of death in penetrating to the frozen north. Even the pole, when it is reached, will not be of any great value. As Symmes' hole has been relegated to the lumber room of fable, nothing can be expected from the interior of the earth which was said to be revealed by that mysterious aperture. Nothing of great moment practically will ever be obtained by such expeditions, which are a waste of life, health and money.

But the plain man does not know the delight of mere adventure. Neither does he understand the rapture of the man of science when he grasps a new fact. Love of adventure and love of knowledge for its own sake have been a mainspring of human activities at all times and in all places. They prompt men to hunt for the pole in the north and the tiger in the south; and unless mankind is less strenuous than before, the search in the far north will continue until the place is reached where latitude and longitude are swallowed up in an imaginary point.

In the light of the returns from the Eighth Missouri Congressional District, President McKinley will find strong reason for modifying his idea of the righteousness of a policy of expansion by conquest and imperialism.

DEAD MEN AND FORGERIES.

The prosecution in the Dreyfus case received some hard blows yesterday from Col. Cordier, Deputy Chief of the Intelligence Department when the treason charged upon Dreyfus became public.

As summarized by the Post-Dispatch correspondent at Rennes his evidence is as follows:

(1.) The date of the bordereau was changed.

(2.) Leakages occurred before and after Dreyfus' connection with the general staff.

(3.) The bordereau was given to Col. Sandherr, the Chief of the Department, by Col. Henry.

(4.) The Dreyfus family did not try to bribe Col. Sandherr.

(5.) Henry committed forgeries to discredit Picquart, who was made Chief when Sandherr died. Henry wanted the place himself.

Dead men and forgeries, dead men and forgeries. Every line of evidence pursued in this strange case terminates with one or the other, sometimes with both.

Why did the prosecuting officers change the date of the bordereau? Who leaked before and after Dreyfus' connection with the department? Where did Col. Henry get the bordereau which he gave to Col. Sandherr?

Sandherr is dead, Henry is dead; the latter a confessed forger. The atmosphere is thick with the odors of death and disgrace.

The Paris Exposition has already restored life to hundreds of factories and given employment to more than 150,000 men. Paris expects that foreign visitors to the Exposition will leave $200,000,000 in the city. If so much can be done for Paris in 1900, how much can be done for St. Louis in 1903? If our World's Fair is to be the greatest ever held—and there is no reason to suppose that it will not be such an exhibition—is there not a great incentive for every St. Louisan to put his money in it?

There should be an especially long term for those footpads who beat a man because he has little or no money with him. Most people do not carry money in large amounts, even when they are rich enough to do so. Thumping a poor man because he has not that which he cannot have is a serious offense, for which there can be no palliation.

President McKinley's remark about "cruel leaders who have needlessly sacrificed the lives of thousands of their people at the cost of some of our best blood," referring to the Filipino leaders, would read as well in a Filipino newspaper as a quotation from a native speaker.

All that the President can say to the Pennsylvanians does not alter the fact that Spain was not master in the Philippines and that she has not delivered, and could not deliver, the territory for which we foolishly paid her $20,000,000.

The report that the Apache and Zuni Indians are about to exterminate each other is not disturbing to the white people of Arizona and New Mexico. The disappearance of these tribes would be no calamity to the United States.

Dato Mundi, who served the Spaniards, is now serving the United States against the Filipinos. Thus our enemies become our allies, while our allies become our enemies. There are many strange incidents in our expansion.

FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR

Mr. Edwin Harrison is a private citizen who is conspicuous in the right way. No movement for the betterment of the community has sought his encouragement and aid in vain. He has held his powers at the command of the St. Louis people for any service their interests required. Mr. Harrison brings to the World's Fair question the broad view and ripened judgment of a man who has studied the interests of the community as a whole. He writes a strong letter no less convincing to the man who seeks his own business interests than to the man who seeks the welfare of the city. He advises the St. Louis people unitedly to cross the World's Fair bridge and burn it.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I take pleasure in responding to your invitation to contribute my views of the project to avail ourselves of the opportunity to properly celebrate the Centennial Anniversary of the Louisiana Purchase, and incidentally to introduce ourselves to the world, by holding an international exposition in 1903. Apparently a large majority of the people of this city favor the project, and I think the balance of us should now fall in. The temporary organization which has been effected is in good hands.

There was some misgiving at first in the minds of some of our wealthy and enterprising, but prudent citizens, as to the success of the movement, and who, therefore, took little interest in it. I know that some of these gentlemen have already made large contributions to the World's Fair fund. I believe that others who are absent from the city for the summer and who hesitated to lend their names and money to the enterprise for the prosecution of which they feared the necessary capital could not be raised, will subscribe with equal liberality on their return.

Let us not underrate ourselves. St. Louis is a little slow, but has shown much enterprise and self-reliance heretofore. She cannot afford to lose her prestige now. The St. Louis Mechanical and Agricultural Association organized in the '50s was for many years the just pride of the city and State. Its well-earned reputation was in some respects international. Then came our downtown annual Exposition, which has also been and still is a gratifying success. It is a well known fact that these two perennial exhibitions have been largely the most successful ones of the number inaugurated by different cities in this country. The enterprise of our citizens is further evinced by the existence here of a number of mercantile, manufacturing and other industrial organizations which excel in magnitude anything of their kind on this continent, and which involve vast amounts of capital and well-directed energy. It is not necessary to specify them here.

Are we at this stage of our efforts going to justify the world in believing that we are really but the overgrown village that we have sometimes been accused of being? Let us reflect what humiliation would be in store for us after having advertised our purpose so extensively and gone so far toward carrying it out. It is too late to retreat. Let us cross our World's Fair bridge and burn it behind us. Yours truly,

EDWIN HARRISON.

THE ELOPEMENT.

THE wedding was not a popular one. The bride, Beatrice Grey, was much beloved in Pangbourne, but had her father been living—so it was said—the union about to be celebrated would never have been permitted. Mrs. Grey, however, was satisfied. She was one of those women who think that the be-all and end-all of life is to be rich, which the bridegroom, Geoffrey Brewster, certainly was.

He had a rival in John Valsey of the "Fighting Fifth," a dashing young soldier, who had fought like a man in the Tirah under Lockhart, and whose brave deeds deserved to be better recompensed.

Beatrice, overcome by the ordeal through which she was passing, tried by her mother's attentions, teased by the good-natured badinage of her bridesmaids, and almost in tears at the sacrifice of her happiness, which at the eleventh hour she inwardly knew this marriage meant, sat in the drawing room in her bridal dress—though not yet gloved or veiled—staring drearily at her wedding presents, but wearing a wedding-day smile, when the old gardener came in a flustered sort of way and stood hat in hand, at the French windows. He carried a small bouquet of white roses.

She went toward him and took the flowers, when, with the familiar, but respectful freedom of an old servant, he motioned her aside. As she stepped out onto the terrace, he slipped into her hand a note.

"The Cap'n told me to gie ye the roses, miss, and particular the note. He be yonder i' the punt."

It was the merest scrap of paper torn from a notebook and not even in an envelope. She unfolded and hastily read the brief pencil scrawl—

"Before you are irrevocably lost, speak to me, I implore you. JACK."

For a moment or two she hesitated, then, crunching the note in one hand and gathering up the train of her dress in the other, she hurried across the lawn. As soon as she advanced toward him, he strode to meet her eagerly.

There was no time for long speech or argument, and that John Valsey knew well. His was a desperate effort, and it was a time not for words but for action.

"The marriage must not be," he said.

She was as white as her own gown. She looked about her, shuddering.

"You will be unhappy for your whole life," he said sternly. "You know you do not love this man. I know you love me."

"It is too late," she faltered.

She looked back at the open French windows of the house, paused doubtfully, and stepped a pace or two toward the river. Her hesitation encouraged him. He put his arm through hers and led her away, talking persuasively, rapidly, till she stood by the punt.

"There is no time for consideration," he said, drawing her into the punt.

Almost before she knew it he had unloosed the chain and pushed off from the terrace.

"But where, how—what is this?" she exclaimed, in sudden apprehension.

"Well, it's an elopement," he replied. "That's the plain English of it. Instead of marrying Mr. Brewster at Pangbourne you marry me at Maplederham. I love you, Beatrice, and that's the truth. Why should you be miserable forever?"

When they came to the church gate she clung to him a moment and, lifting her face up to his, whispered, in a sudden burst of gratitude, "Oh, Jack! How you have saved me! Won't I just be a good wife to you for this!"

And she is.—Illustrated London News.

St. Louis and the Fair.

From the State Tribune, Jefferson City, Mo.

We do not doubt the final result of the effort to raise in St. Louis $5,000,000 for the World's Fair fund. The amount will be forthcoming, of course. St. Louis cannot afford to drop it now.

But St. Louis would score largely by putting up the money at once. Delay injures the city. It discourages the friends of the Fair everywhere. It makes more difficult the efforts to enlist the support of outsiders in what it is hoped will be the climax of modern expositions.

Aunt Mary's Advice.

All those who have no nearer friend are welcome to write to me and are welcome to the best advice I can give them. This invitation is extended to all husbands, wives, sweethearts and lovers, whose hearts are troubled and who have questions of great or little moment to ask.

AUNT MARY,
Care of the Post-Dispatch.

WANTS TO HUNT HIM UP.

There is a young man I am very much in love with. I went with him about one month, and from all appearances he thought a great deal of me, but he went away to see his mother. He was gone about four months, and has not written to me once. I try to forget him, but I never loved any one as well as this one. He is now in St. Louis, but I do not know where he is. Would you advise me to hunt him up? Please don't tell me to forget him. I have tried, but cannot.

ELLA.

Certainly not. If he cares for you he will make it known. If he doesn't you will only earn his contempt by making advances.

AFRAID OF HER PARENTS.

I am in love with a gentleman, and he seems very much in love with me. We are employed at the same place of business. He is very anxious to take me out, but objected to coming to the house first. My parents objected to me going with him because he refused to call at the house. They said they did not want me to go with him, as I have not been very much acquainted with him. I am 20 years of age, and have never kept any company yet. My parents do not like for me to keep company. I think I am old enough to keep company. I am almost heart-broken. I would like very much to keep company. Please advise me what to do.

MABLE.

Your parents are right, and you know it. A man who is afraid to meet your father and mother is not the man for you, nor any other good girl.

A FAINT-HEARTED BOY.

I am a clerk in a West End drug store. I have been keeping company with a young lady about two years and I love her dearly, but never had the nerve to tell her so.

We go out together every Thursday and Sunday evening, and while she is sometimes quite affectionate, at other times she treats me quite cool. Please tell me how I can find out if she loves me or if it is proper to continue taking her out on my "off" days. "ANTHONY."

Suppose you ask her, son.

J. S.—A loveless marriage is apt to be unhappy. You are brooding too much over your troubles. If the girl is not for you accept the fact and go about your business. It is not manly to moan over what can't be helped.

A LONELY SWEETHEART.—Your mother, is right, of course, and you know it. If the young man is what he ought to be, why is it that your mother "never had a conversation with him?" In years you are old enough to take care of yourself, but wisdom and discretion do not always come promptly with years. Sometimes they lay behind, very far behind, as in your case.

TWO BABES.

I am a young man, 19 years old, and am desperately in love with a handsome young lady of 16 summers. She leads me to believe she cares for me, but I am at a loss to find out if she really does. All my friends tell me she is just "playing" me. I know she could go with any of the swell St. Louis boys, but she doesn't.

I am from the country, but being an adherent of Shakspeare's "Faint heart ne'er won fair lady," I have also entered the contest for her smiles.

Please tell me what to do.

DESPERATELY IN LOVE.

Wait 10 years. You are fearfully young.

SCOTT TO DOT.

From Dot's letter of last Sunday's paper, she thinks her sweetheart rather slow. Dot is right; he does think the world of her, but thought Dot had better go to school another year without being embarrassed by an engagement and to be as you say, very good. SCOTT.

POOR CHILD.

I am a young girl of 17 and deeply in love with a young man of about 20. I have only been out with him once and every time I see him I like him better. Once in a while when I see him he speaks coldly and then again he speaks his very sweetest. He is very handsome and out of the ordinary, so of course he has many admirers. At least I think so. He is very gentlemanly and acts very sweet when out in company. I love him better than any creature on earth. Now please don't tell me to try and forget him as I have often set my mind upon it, but always failed. Tell me how I can win his love.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

I have been told to give barley water to a baby when it is thirsty. How is this made?

A MOTHER.

If the child has plenty of good milk and pure water, barley water is very little needed. However, it is nice for a change. To make it: A scant tablespoonful of prepared barley, that is, powdered barley, is put into a pint of boiling water and allowed to boil slowly for 20 minutes. Half a teaspoonful of salt is added to the boiling water first. An ounce or two tablespoonfuls of the cooked barley water is treated in the child's nursing bottle by standing the bottle in hot water or placing it on the stove in cold water and letting it come to a boil.

What is good for hives? MRS. A. S. W.

When a child is attacked with hives, a good rule to follow is to give a good dose of castor oil, for in most cases there is some gastric or intestinal trouble that is acting as the cause. After administering the oil the diet should be simple for a few days. Bread and milk is sufficient. In speaking of castor oil our readers should know that a tasteless preparation can be obtained at any drug store.

My little girl, 5 months old, gets the skin rubbed off in the creases of the body, especially in hot weather. Ordinary powder seems to make her worse, as her skin is very fine and delicate. Is starch powder good? M. B. L.

For very delicate skins other powders are better than starch. French chalk is inexpensive and not irritating. Use sub-nitrate of bismuth if the skin is much reddened, shaking the powder from the puff and taking care not to touch the abraded surfaces.

Please give me a remedy for colic and wind on the stomach. ANXIOUS.

Peppermint tea is recommended as an excellent remedy in the gastric and intestinal disturbances of infants, especially those fed artificially. It is made by steeping in boiling water a small pinch of the leaves of which the imported German ones, uncompressed, are the best. This tea, sweetened to taste, may be given ad libitum. The tea may be given in a nursing bottle, either warm or cold, though most children prefer it warm.—Medical Summary.

Is borax a good remedy for thrush, and how is it used?

It is a good remedy, mixed in honey. The druggist will mix a bottle of it for you. If the thrush is severe see the doctor, as it indicates a disordered stomach and bowels.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IN CHILDREN.

Louis Fisher, in the Medical Record, says that this dreaded complaint is caused by malassimilation and improper feeding during the hot weather. The writer says that the most important part of the management of a case of summer complaint is the dietetic treatment. The first point to be borne in mind is to discontinue all kinds of food which were given at the time of the attack—as for example, if milk has been given, the same must be discontinued, and in its place a food more easily assimilated, such as barley water, rice water and farina water. These are simple preparations, and are easily made by adding a tablespoonful of barley, rice or farina to a pint of water, boiling the same, straining it, and warming it immediately before feeding. It should be given in the same quantities as the child has been in the habit of taking prior to this attack, but at longer intervals, thus allowing the stomach much more time for the digestion and absorption of a lighter article of food, and giving it a little more rest. During the interval, if the child is very thirsty, it is a good plan to give boiled water plain, or boiled water to which the white of an egg and some salt are added; and if the child is old enough, occasionally a few drops of expressed juice of meat, made by broiling a steak over a fire, and expressing the juice in a lemon squeezer or meat press. When the infant's normal condition is again restored, and all diseased symptoms have passed away, then we can gradually return to Nature's remedy—milk feeding.

Winerooms Should Be Closed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Have you been reading the articles which have appeared in the Post-Dispatch and other papers about the necessity of closing up the winerooms. Judging from what I hear it seems to be the general opinion of all classes, rich and poor, Protestants and Catholics, Jew and gentile, that the winerooms should go. When there is such an unanimous feeling against the wineroom why should any difficulty be experienced in closing them? Everybody whom I have heard talking about them say they ruin hundreds of young people every year.

Such being the case they should be closed. READER.

Mayor Jones' Candidacy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After reading Mr. Jones' announcement of his candidacy for the Governorship of the State of Ohio, I fail to understand why he cannot secure the support of every good citizen of that great State.

How different his declaration of principle reads from that of the partisan representative who, with bombast and ostentation, declare that his is the only party which really has at heart the welfare and prosperity of the people, and who insist that the other party is composed of a set of scoundrels whose only desire is to secure the offices and loot the treasury. Both parties are right in this last statement, and it is only the foolish and unthinking citizen who will ally himself with either of them.

It is not patriotism or public-spiritedness that prompts the organization of the two great political parties, it is simply a desire to use the Government as a means to obtain private ends. VULCAN.

Icemen Are Not Outcasts.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Answering T. Of course I don't believe an ice man should be anything but civil at all times, unless he is looked down upon and treated as an outcast, as some people think this class of men are.

Are Park Benches Loaned Out?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"Constant Visitor" in to-day's Post-Dispatch wishes to know the reason for the scarcity of benches in the park. Now, if the police will take the trouble to investigate they will find one reason is that they are loaned to the saloons. Only last week the writer saw a load of Forest Park benches going out of the park. Some find their way back; others remain away permanently and can be seen around town in saloons and on private lawns, with park names on them. Who has the right to loan out our park property? JOHN R. GENTRY RECEIVES MANY ENTRIES TO IT.

JEFFERSON CITY EXHIBITION.

According to the St. Louis Expert It Was the Most Successful Ever Held There.

John R. Gentry, manager of the St. Louis Horse Show, has returned from Jefferson City, where he went to arrange the bringing of several strings of prize winners to compete in the St. Louis Horse Show.

Mr. Gentry received assurances from many owners of fine horses that they would exhibit at the St. Louis Horse Show.

In the saddle gelding class N. H. Davis of Fulton will enter Ed Sheely; E. G. Davis of Columbia, Judge Wilson; J. R. Reno of Marshall, Rex Rose and Tom Boss of Kansas City, Ben Middleton.

These horses all come from towns in this State, and are only a small part of the entries.

Mr. Gentry states that A. C. Ashbrook of Kansas City will ship Bonnie Lassie, Sweet Briar and Black Douglass, the crack jumpers, here.

The Ashbrook jumpers are known all over the country, and the news of their entry will promise a hot fight for first honors in this class.

The recent Horse Show at Jefferson City, according to Mr. Gentry, was the most successful ever held there. The prizes were liberal and the attendance much better than expected.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Joe Choynski Whips "Australian" Jimmy Ryan.

At the Dubuque tournament on Tuesday night 6000 people saw the boxing bouts.

In the opening bout Clarence Forbes and Con Suffield battled for the bantamweight championship of the West and Forbes knocked his man out in the eleventh round.

Joe Choynski and Australian Jimmy Ryan went the 20 rounds and it was a lively set-to, with give and take the order all through, but Referee George Siler at the end gave the decision to Choynski.

In a letter from Chicago Frankie Noel, the St. Louis boxer, says he is training hard for his fight with Dave O'Connor of Paterson, N. J., to take place in Chicago. O'Connor whipped Tommy Sullivan in eight rounds. The best Johnnie Richie could do with Sullivan was to get a draw. So Noel is up against a pretty tough proposition. Should he hold his own against O'Connor, Noel will return to St. Louis and meet McFadden.

Chris. Von der Ahe, the old boss president of the old boss club, had a big smile on his face and big diamonds on his fingers last night.

"I have just heard the news about Butch Wagner's sausages beating the St. Louis Ice Wagons for the third successive time," said Chris, and then he ordered a big cold bottle and "Blue Ribbons" for everyone.

"The team I had last year, with Muck and Hurst thrown in, committed many a crime against the laws of good ball playing," continued Chris, "but it never saw the day when it could lose three straight to Wagner's Sausages.

"Why, last year when my team lost a single game to the Washington push every crank in town took a shot at the old man. But now I can smile like the rest and throw a brick or two."

And Chris was right. Losing three straight games to the tail-end club of the National League is about the worst thing a St. Louis club has ever been guilty of.

After Tuesday's game all hands wondered what was the matter with the St. Louis team. When at work in the field before the game it looked strong as a stone wall. Its infield appeared to be perfection itself and there was nothing the matter with its outfield. But when the game was played the team was not in it with the poorest team in the League. There appeared to be a thorough absence of head work and team work. It is all well enough to say that Donlin's pitching was not greatly responsible for the team's defeat, but that will not wipe out the fact that he opened up business by sending the first three men to base on balls and giving the Senators a lead that never got away from them while the game lasted. That there are good individual players in the St. Louis team goes without saying, but that the team is just now playing the poorest of games is another fact that will not down. Some of the players claim that the recent double-headers and overwork knocked them off their pins, and that that is the cause of their recent poor performances. There may be more truth than poetry to this statement, and the rest which the players get this one day may put them in shape to hold their own when they meet the Baltimores on Thursday.

BURNS IN FINE FORM

HE RODE THREE WINNERS AT HARLEM ON TUESDAY.

AFTERMATH OF THE FUTURITY.

Charcornac Without Question Proved Himself the Best Horse in Saturday's Great Race.

At Harlem this Wednesday afternoon the Schoers will have their horse, Jakanapes, in the fifth race at one and one-eighth miles, and, with Burns up, he may land that event.

When a few days ago Charley Ellison, Burns' manager, wrote to George Munson that Burns was himself again, he evidently called the turn, for that great jockey was much in evidence at Harlem Tuesday, riding three horses first past the post and putting two others in third place.

There will be two stake races disposed of at Sheepshead Bay on Wednesday afternoon, the first the Dash Stakes at five furlongs and the other the Ocean Handicap at a mile. The entries in these two events are:

Third race, Dash Stakes, last five furlongs of Futurity course.

Mesmer st	127	Primrose Day	107
Waring	110	Lady Uncas	107
Stuart	110	Teddy	104
St. Finnegan	110	Radford	104
Montanic	107	Musette	101

Fourth race, Ocean handicap, one mile:

Voter	124	Thomas Cat	112
Imp	123	Cambrian	109
Swiftmas	121	Toluca	109

Kinnikinnic	116	Half Time	109
Mazine	114	Lady Lindsey	103

Nation	112

The result of no race ever run was more satisfactory than was that of this Futurity. By the owners of beaten horses, as well as by horsemen and the public generally, it is admitted that the race was won by the best horse. There was no delay at the post. The start was perfect. There was less crowding by far than had been anticipated in a field of such proportions. None of the owners of the beaten horses has any excuse to make. The public has no fault to find. It was one of the few big stakes the running of which left no bitterness in its wake. Some other day some one of the colts who finished behind Charcornac in the Futurity may take his measure, but as he was in the Futurity he was pounds better than any of his company. The race was run truly, and the best horse won. A word of praise is due to David Garrick, who, although he did not finish in the money, took up his 131 pounds and ran a good race.

The victory of Charcornac brings little more glory to him than it does to his sire, who, until now, has not been held in high esteem. Proof of this statement may be found in the fact that Charcornac, as a yearling, was bought for $250, and he failed to command a greater price because of the fact that his sire practically was unknown and untried. Juvenal's get are likely to command handsome prices hereafter. One good horse is not sufficient to make the reputation of a sire, but one good horse is more than sufficient to attract the attention of horsemen to a sire: and, that done, the bidding for the get of this sire is bound to become more lively. It follows almost inevitably that more attention will be paid to the get and that the chances of their enhancing the reputation of their sire are well-nigh boundless. Charcornac's Futurity means much to L. S. & W. P. Thompson, who own Juvenal.

LIVER ILLS.

DR. RADWAY & CO., New York:

Dear Sirs—I have been sick for nearly two years, and have been doctoring with some of the most expert doctors of the United States. I have been bathing and drinking hot water at the Hot Springs, Ark., but it seemed everything failed to do me good. After I saw your advertisement I thought I would try your pills, and have nearly used two boxes; been taking two at bedtime and one after breakfast, and they have done me more good than anything else I have ever used. My trouble has been with the liver. My skin and eyes were all yellow; I had sleepy, drowsy feelings; felt like a drunken man; pain right above the navel, like as if it was bile on top of the stomach. My bowels were costive. My mouth and tongue sore most of the time. Appetite fair, but food would not digest, but settle heavy on my stomach, and some few mouthfuls of food come up again. I could only eat light food that digests easily. Please send "Book of Advice." Respectfully,

BEN ZAUGG, Hot Springs, Ark.

SHOT HIS WIFE IN THE HEAD

Dr. B. H. Neiderseldt of East St. Louis Says He Intended Killing Himself Instead.

Dr. B. H. Neiderseldt, a veterinary surgeon of East St. Louis, attempted to kill his wife Wednesday noon at their home, Fifth street and Illinois avenue. He shot her in the head, the ball inflicting only a scalp wound. Neiderseldt is under arrest. The story told by the police is that the surgeon came to dinner intoxicated and because it was not ready a quarrel ensued, which ended in the shooting. Mrs. Neiderseldt's wound is slight.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 30.

The markets again opened lower and showed signs of weakness early and trading was again of a desultory character, with not much encouragement for the long side.

Cables came lower. Northwestern receipts were again heavy and weather conditions were rather favorable to the bear side. September wheat opened ⅛c up and December unchanged. Corn opened ⅛@⅜ off for September and continued weak.

The Weather—Probably fair to-night and Thursday.

The barometer is highest over the Northwest territory and New England States and lowest over the extreme Southwest and Northern Michigan. Light showers occurred in Minnesota, the Dakotas, the Southwestern States and the Middle and North Atlantic States. Heavy rain was reported from Atlanta, Ga. The temperature changes were slight.

WHEAT.

The market was again sluggish and without feature this morning. Trading was listless, and aside from occasional short selling there was practically no interest taken in the pit.

All options opened weak on early bearish news. After that fluctuations were extremely narrow.

There was little in the news from foreign markets on which to base a bullish argument. Cables opened lower and the foreign demand was light and apparently supplied. Domestic news was of the same general character. There were practically no buying orders from outsiders and pit traders were not speculating to any great extent.

Northwestern receipts were again immense, and there was news of more wheat on the road due at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day. Winter conditions were regarded as favorable.

In the local market Sept. opened at 69⅛c, ⅛c off and declined to 68⅞c. Dec. opened at 72⅜c, unchanged, dropped to 72c, but later advanced to 72⅜@72½c.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 694,000 bu., as compared with 998,000 bu. same date last year.

Shipments, 459,000 bu., compared with 480,000 bu. same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 973 cars, compared with 647 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis to-day were 62,830 bu., compared with 64,504 bu. same date last year. Of these 6258 sacks and 56 cars were local, compared with 4713 sacks and 61 cars same date last year.

CORN.

This market was lower on warm and generally fair weather, but there was practically no speculation. September was held early at 30⅝c, but sold at 30⅛c. December was sold at 27⅛c and then offered at 27c.

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 953,000 bu, as compared with 730,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 418,000 bu, compared with 712,000 bu same date last year.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 94,400 bu. compared with 48,000 bu same date last year. Of these 30 cars were local, compared with 2160 sacks and 33 cars same date last year.

OATS.

The same old hang-fire market, with no trading in the pit. There was a bid of 21c for September.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 27,600 bu. compared with 16,800 bu same date last year. Of these 22 cars were local, compared with 14 cars same date last year.

HORSES AND MULES—Receipts, 300. There is a large attendance of buyers here to-day, and quality of receipts is good. Campbell, Reid & Hilgert have their regular auction and report a fine lot of native horses here and trade in good shape. Most of the range horses sent here for the big sale have been sold. The prices realized on the best show that the range horse will be an important factor in the export and Eastern trade of the future. The cheaper and medium grades, while finding fair sale, did not sell as rapidly as at former sales, and there are a number of this class left over to be sold to-day. The large receipts have had something to do with the number of "hold-overs," as the buyers had a chance to be particular in their choice, and filled orders to suit themselves.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Prospects of damage by frost to the belated crops, as indicated by temperatures of between 30 and 40 in the extreme Northwest, gave a rather firm tone to the opening in wheat to-day. The slight advance with which September opened soon gave way, and a gradual decline in all speculative futures took place. Commission houses were moderate buyers at the opening, but in spite of the low temperatures in the Northwest the markets in that section are anything but strong, and this fact had its influence on local trading. Foreigners were buyers in a small way at the seaboard, but local longs were disposed to liquidate, and as little support was forthcoming, either from local shorts or from the outside, prices naturally sagged. A small advance at Liverpool was a feature of the opening steadiness. Northwest receipts were 373 cars, against 175 last week and 647 a year ago. Chicago receipts were 90 cars, 2 of contract grade. Weakness in the Northwest was taken to indicate that wheat was out of the way of damage by frost. September opened a shade higher at 70@70⅛c and declined to 69¼@69⅜c. December opened unchanged at 72c, sold at 72⅛c and declined to 71½@71⅝c. Corn slow and irregular. Deferred futures showed some strength on the possibilities of frost, but September was weak, changing from September to the later deliveries contributing to the decline. Receipts, 390 cars. September opened unchanged at 30⅞c, sold at 30⅞@31c, and declined to 30⅝c. December opened a shade higher at 28⅝@28⅜c, sold at 28⅜@28⅝c, and reacted to the opening price. Oats were quiet, but firm. Offerings were light from the country, and there was less consequent selling pressure from elevator firms. Receipts 334 cars. September opened shade higher at 20c, sold at 20⅛c and back to opening price. December held a shade higher at 19⅝c. Provisions inclined toward lower prices. Beyond a moderate amount of changing from September to December there was little doing. September pork opened 2½c lower at $8.22½, advanced to $8.25 and reacted to $8.17½. September lard opened a shade lower at $5.20@5.22½, and declined to $5.17½@5.20. September ribs opened unchanged at $5.17½ and declined to $5.15.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The reported clearing of the Transvaal situation and resulting higher prices from London caused a scramble to cover among yesterday's bears. In the railroad list the international stocks led the advance, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway preferred and Louisville showing strength. In the specialties, Tennessee Coal and Continental Tobacco preferred were up 1¾, and Republic Steel, Federal Steel and Union Bag and Paper nearly a point. There were small losses in a few railroads, but the general market opened strong.

The opening improvement invited realizing by the traders and prices of some issues yielded sharply, particularly Metropolitan, Tennessee Coal and Chicago Great Western preferred "B." A demand then arose for Kansas & Texas preferred, which amounted to 45, and hardened other railway issues. Brooklyn Transit, Smelting preferred and Republic Steel moved up over a point. Dealings in Wheeling & Lake Erie common were large and the price higher, but there was nothing doing in other low-priced railroads.

Support was lacking in the Tobacco issues. Continental preferred fell easily 3, and others a point. The general market held its own for a time, but an attack on the New York City stocks, Brooklyn Transit, Consolidated Gas and Metropolitan Street Railway caused it to fall off 1 to 3 points. Among the railways Kansas & Texas preferred and Union Pacific lost most notably. Sales, 217,400 shares.

The bond market was without special feature, but quite steady.

YOUNG EDITOR WEDS

JOHN W. WIEGAND AND MISS W. HUFF SURPRISE FRIENDS.

BOTH ARE CHURCH LEADERS.

Innocent Deception Practiced on the Epworth League of Belleville by the Bride-Elect.

John W. Wiegand, editor of the New Athens Journal and Freeburg News, worked overtime this week and sent his papers to press a day earlier than usual. He confided to his readers that he was going away for a little vacation.

Wednesday morning he took an early train for Belleville and at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon he was married to Miss Winnifred Huff at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Sarah Guess, 103 East C street, Belleville.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Flint, pastor of the First M. E. Church. There were present only the immediate relatives.

The marriage was a surprise to even the most intimate friends of the young couple. Mr. Wiegand was so bent on keeping the wedding secret that he made the greatest possible sacrifice—he allowed himself to be "scooped" on his own "story."

Not only did Mr. Wiegand leave his readers unenlightened, but a little innocent deception was practiced to prevent their friends in Belleville from knowing of their intentions.

Miss Huff has been a very active member of the Epworth League of the First M. E. Church at Belleville. She let it be known that she was going to visit her mother at Metropolis, Ill., and said she might not return, but there was no hint of an approaching wedding.

Last Sunday night at the meeting of the Epworth League pretty speeches were made and resolutions were adopted in recognition of Miss Huff's worth and of her work as a member of the society. Miss Huff replied in a happy vein and told a funny story but the more discerning noticed that she was a little more "flustrated" than was her wont, and they wondered why.

After the meeting earnest good-bys were said, and Miss Huff was urged to come back and again make her home in Belleville. Through it all Editor Wiegand sat well back and did a lot of merry thinking.

The couple met three years ago at a Sunday-school convention at Caseyville.

The bride was for several years secretary of the St. Clair County Sunday-school Association, and has also been District Epworth League secretary.

Mr. Wiegand, although only 23 years old, is a successful editor of two county papers. His first newspaper work was in connection with the Post-Dispatch.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wiegand are well known all over Southern Illinois.

MANY VETERANS TO GO

ST. LOUIS TO BE WELL REPRESENTED AT G. A. R. MEETING.

PHILADELPHIA IS READY.

Elaborate Programme for the Entertaining of Old Soldiers and the Auxiliary Corps.

The St. Louis veterans will leave Saturday for the Grand Army encampment at Philadelphia. It is estimated that over 650 old soldiers will go. With every post will be the Women's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans.

Hasendeubel Post will be best represented with 300 members and their wives and sons. This post will leave at 7 o'clock Saturday morning on the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

The Blair Post, with 150 men and women, will go out the same hour. They will go to Louisville by the Air Line and then on to Philadelphia over the Chesapeake & Ohio. This route will be interesting to the old fighters, as it winds through much of the country in which they fought.

Ransom Post will leave over the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern on Saturday evening. There will probably be 200 members and their wives. Neither the Women's Relief Corps nor the Sons of Veterans will attend as an organization. The members will go with the posts of their selection and remain with them throughout the encampment.

Every arrangement for the entertainment of the visitors has been made by the Philadelphia and copies of programmes sent to Department Post commanders. The parade of the veterans, which will be reviewed by President McKinley and members of the Cabinet, will occur on Tuesday, Sept. 5, starting at 10 o'clock. The Missouri men have been "brigaded" with those from Delaware, Minnesota and Oregon.

They are ordered to form on the east side of Broad street at Berks, heading south and extending north. The parade of the Naval Veterans is set for Monday afternoon.

The event of Friday will be a review of the North Atlantic squadron under the command of Rear Admiral Sampson. The commanding officer will designate the hours when visitors will be received on board the vessels. St. Louisans will have this opportunity to see the vessel that destroyed the fleet of Admiral Cervera, with the exception of the Oregon, which is at Manila.

There is a possibility that this will be the last encampment of the Civil War veteran, that the parade of next Tuesday will be the last time that the men who marched with Grant, Sherman and Sheridan will march together. Each year the ranks grow thinner, the ordeal of marching more severe as age lays its hand on the bent blue figures.

The suggestion has been made that this be the last meeting and it will occupy a prominent place in the army's deliberations. Those who are yet "young" old men will strenuously fight for the annual reviews, and it remains to be seen if the older heads carry the day.

Department Commander Peterson of Missouri wants things continued as they are, "There will be Grand Army encampments," he said, "so long as there are two veterans to meet."

John P. Brown, a laborer, 40 years old, who lived at 4531 Easton avenue, has been missing from his usual haunts for two weeks. The St. Louis man had no relatives in the city.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN W. WIEGAND.

BACK TO THE STAGE HAS MUCH WEALTH

MRS. CHARLES VAN STUDDIFORD WILL AGAIN BE A SINGER.

MAY GO WITH THE BOSTONIANS.

She Formerly Thrilled Audiences and Is Now One of the Leaders in St. Louis Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Van Studdiford have gone to New York.

Mrs. Van Studdiford will return to the stage.

This announcement will surprise a great many persons who have seen Mrs. Van Studdiford in society and have noted that she seemed to get as much pleasure out of life as it was possible for anybody. To others the surprise is not so great.

Mrs. Van Studdiford was Gracia Quive, a member of the Bostonians. When that company played at the Century Theater in the fall of 1896 she attracted a good deal of attention. She was, and is, a radiantly beautiful woman, blessed with a voice that might well have made her fortune. She was known in St. Louis society, having visited friends here before she went on the stage.

Charley Van Studdiford saw her on the stage and conceived a warm admiration for her. He knew Will J. Davis, one of the lessees of the Century and husband of Jessie Bartlett Davis of the opera company.

Seeking out Mr. Davis he asked to be introduced to Miss Quive. Mr. Davis performed that office and during the stay of the Bostonians here Mr. Van Studdiford was very attentive to the beautiful singer. He followed the company to Chicago and wooed Miss Quive so ardently that before Christmas she retired from the stage and announced her engagement to Mr. Van Studdiford.

It was regarded as an excellent match from every standpoint. He was wealthy, a member of one of the oldest and best St. Louis families, and she was talented and beautiful enough to have graced a throne. Her family, too, is one of prominence in Indiana.

After their marriage the Van Studdifords took their place as leaders of what is known in society as the "smart set." He owned a stable of race horses and took great interest in them. She shared the interest and was a frequent visitor to the clubhouse. They had a handsome establishment on Maryland avenue and entertained lavishly.

Mr. Van Studdiford's race horses won money, but it is said that he backed them at the wrong time.

He is also said to have lost nearly all his fortune by the failure of a real estate firm. This was about six weeks ago.

Then it was that Mrs. Van Studdiford determined to return to the stage. She and her husband went to New York together, and her engagement with an opera company may be expected in a few days.

It is not unlikely that she will return to the Bostonians. If she does she will find Marcia Van Dresser, with whom she made her debut as a singer, also returned to the same company.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS UNITE.

Two Organizations of Roman Catholics Will Conduct a Lecture Course.

A combination of the Knights of Father Mathew and the Catholic W. C. T. U. for better results in temperance work was effected Tuesday evening at a joint meeting held at 1808 Locust street.

Daniel O'C. Tracy acted as chairman and T. F. Bowdin was secretary.

It was decided that the two societies should conduct a lecture bureau jointly. The lectures will be in the line of temperance work, that being a very important work with each of the societies. The bureau will be in the charge of a committee, composed of Rev. J. T. Coffey, Daniel O'Connell Tracey, Mrs. O. R. Lake, Mrs. A. M. Butler, Mrs. May Hogan, Patrick Mulcahy and Thomas F. Bowdin.

The lectures will be held in different halls over the city. The first lecture will be given Nov. 1 by Father Kress of Cleveland, O. There will be a public installation of the officers of the Knights of Father Mathew in January, which will take the nature of a celebration of the birth of Father Mathew. There will be 72 officers installed.

Neighbors Fight.

Henry C. Givens of 2224 Rutger street, and E. C. Rosenthal, who occupies the second floor at the same number, quarreled Tuesday night about a feud of long standing between their families, which was aired in the Police Court earlier in the day. Rosenthal knocked Givens down a flight of stone steps. Givens received a slight scalp wound and was sent to the City Hospital. Rosenthal was arrested and released on bond.

SCREAMED WITH ECZEMA

Baby's Skin Red and Raw. Doctor's Medicine was Painful and Useless. A Stranger Advised CUTICURA. Cured in a Month, with Skin Smooth and Fair.

My little daughter, when six months old, broke out with Eczema. I took her to a doctor and he pronounced it "Moist Eczema," and prescribed for her. She screamed when I put the medicine on her, and I stopped using it. It was indeed very painful. Her skin was all red and raw, and moisture coming from it all the time. A perfect stranger to me advised me to use CUTICURA remedies. I got CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA (ointment), and they entirely cured her within a month. She is twenty-three months old to-day, and her skin is like a piece of silk, and fair as a lily.

PIMPLES CURED BY CUTICURA SOAP

I commenced to get pimples and blackheads when I was fifteen years old. My face was covered. I spent about ten dollars for soaps, medicine, etc., but they never did me any good. I used CUTICURA SOAP for two weeks, the pimples and blackheads began to disappear, and it only took three cakes of CUTICURA SOAP to cure my face of those homely pimples. JOSEPH B. CLANER,
Sept. 21, '98. 327 Court St., Elizabeth, N. J.

My face was covered with a pimply, ruptured, and itching skin. After using CUTICURA SOAP for six weeks, all the pimples went away, my skin getting as soft as velvet.

NEW POLICE SHIELDS

CHIEF CAMPBELL HAS ONE OF GOLD AND DIAMONDS.

SILVER AND GOLD FOR OTHERS.

Chief of Detectives Desmond Gets Along With His Old "No. 4," but May Have to Take a New One.

Police officials are now receiving their new badges and proudly display them upon their manly bosom.

The new tokens of preferment are handsome and costly. Chief of Police Campbell has the most gorgeous badge of all, and it is said no police chief in the United States has one that can be compared with it. It is of solid gold and is studded with 132 diamonds, the largest being a large and especially fine stone.

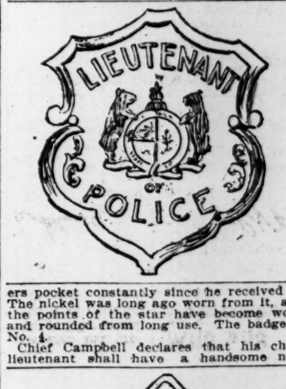

The Lieutenant's shield has the coat of arms in the center, with the word Lieutenant above it. An eagle with outstretched wings surmounts the shield. The badge is made of german silver and is heavily gold plated.

The Captain's shields are designed exactly like the Lieutenant's save that the eagle is left off. These designs were made by Sergt. William Sedevic. The Sergeant's shields were not changed.

Chief of Detectives Desmond has no badge indicative of his rank. The Chief has a badge, but there is not a man on his staff who has not a more presentable shield or star than Maj. Desmond.

When "Billy" Desmond was promoted to the rank of detective in 1873 he was presented with a detective's star. This has never been replaced. This star was made of german silver and was nickel-plated. The Chief has carried his star in his trousers pocket constantly since he received it. The nickel was long ago worn from it, and the points of the star have become worn and rounded from long use. The badge is No. 4.

Chief Campbell declares that his chief lieutenant shall have a handsome new badge at once. Desmond acknowledges having a fondness for "No. 4," and would not like to relinquish it for one, even though it were as handsome as Chief Campbell's.

BATTERY A MAY MEET DEWEY.

It Will Offer Its Services to the New York Reception Committee.

Light Battery A of St. Louis will probably participate in the welcome to Admiral Dewey at New York. At a meeting of the battery held Tuesday night it was decided to tender the services of the battery to the Reception Committee, and Lieut. Weber was instructed to write the chairman of the committee.

BOATS LIKELY TO CUT RATES.

The Lee Line and the Tennessee Company Are Expected to Go to War.

It looks as though a cut-throat rate war would shortly be engaged in by the Lee Line of steamers, plying between here and Southern points, and the Tennessee River Packet Co., having the same route.

There have been cuts and counter cuts all season, but nothing has been done openly. Tuesday morning it was announced that the Tennessee company would accept freight at a shipper's own figures in the territory in which the competing lines are operating. It was also stated that the Tennessee people intended placing boats to ply between points heretofore exclusively covered by the Lee Line.

But the latter has not been behind its rival. Capt. R. E. Lee, on his last trip to this city, said that his company was building several new steamers which would go into commission shortly between St. Louis, Memphis and other points, going straight into the enemy's country.

Already tariffs have been lowered, and from present indications it looks as though they would go much lower, greatly to the delight of the shipper.
